

Britain Dispatches Cruiser To Abadan

Situation Described 'Very Serious';
Events Moving To Disaster—Acheson.

LONDON (CP)—Britain today ordered the cruiser Mauritius to "proceed forthwith" to the vicinity of Abadan, the Iranian oil port where 27 tankers are caught in a jam in a dispute over payments for oil.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, announcing the action in the House of Commons, said the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company has ordered all its tankers to leave Abadan immediately.

Ten of the tankers are loaded with oil but have been refused clearance by Iranian authorities because the captains refused to sign receipts acknowledging payment was due Iran's new nationalized oil company.

New Evidence Reds Prepare For Offensive

Ridgway Pays Visit
To President Rhee

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today he doesn't know what is happening to cease-fire proposals "but things look better than ever."

The Allied commander made the statement on a flying visit to South Korean President Syngman Rhee as the war flared anew, fanned by new Chinese fighting spirit on the ground and aggressiveness in the air.

Red planes twice struck at U.S. B-29 Superfort bombers and engaged in two battles with American Sabre jets. One Red MIG-15 was shot down.

Communists fought so stubbornly on the western flank of the erratic 100-mile front one of the Chinese said "indications are the Chinese are preparing for an offensive."

Ridgway said it was just one of his usual trips and "had no connection with anything regarding a cease-fire."

Before he returned, a memorandum came out of his Tokyo headquarters raising official doubts about the latest Communist cease-fire proposal. It questioned the suggestion as a Russian "political move" that might give the enemy a military advantage.

Reds launched a series of probing attacks. Some Allied patrols were turned back by bitter resistance and others roamed for miles without finding Reds.

BUILD DEFENCE LINES

U.N. patrols bumped into Communist barbed wire entanglements on the east-central front. "The Reds definitely are building a heavy defense, probably parallel to our lines," an officer said.

The Communist air force showed new aggressive tendencies in its strikes at bombing superforts. Allied air forces reported no B-29s were damaged in one attack. But it did not say what happened to them in the second strike.

Forty MIGs and 29 Sabre jets were involved in an afternoon air battle.

Bayonet fighting raged in the rolling hills. Fire-bombing planes swooped close to the lines and blasted Chinese attackers.

WARSHIPS IN ACTION
For the 131st consecutive day U.N. warships bombarded Wonsan, east coast port and transport centre.

Reds mustered a force strong enough for a major attack north of Inje on the east-central front. The Reds also smashed into Allied lines northeast of Kumhwa on the central front. Allied troops withdrew under cover of a heavy artillery barrage after a bitter seven-hour battle.

Peiping radio had barely finished a long broadcast saying the Chinese people were behind the cease-fire move advanced by Russia's U.N. delegate, Jakob Malik, when Communists slammed anew into Allied outposts.

Child's Play Fatal

FALLON, Nev. (UP)—Ten-year-old Valerie Reynolds was dead today, the victim of a fatal shotgun shooting during a children's game of "Cops and Robbers." The girl was shot in the stomach accidentally by her 12-year-old brother, John, Monday night. She died almost immediately.

POWER COMMISSION CASE AWAITS PUBLIC HEARING

A spokesman for the B.C. Power Commission told the Victoria Daily Times today that the Commission would not comment at this time on the statement of Roderick L. Haig-Brown, published in full in last Wednesday's Times, relative to the proposed damming of Butte Lake.

The Times had invited the commission to answer the Haig-Brown argument, in order that both sides of this vital issue might be presented to the public.

"For the present, we regard any comment as sub judice," the spokesman said. "We shall present our case at the public hearing in August."

AMENDMENTS TO TREASON BILL BEATEN IN COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP)—Two opposition groups in the Commons tried unsuccessfully today to have it made a treasonable offense to assist Communist China while her troops are fighting Canadians in Korea.

The Social Credit attempt, backed by the Progressive Conservatives, was the second in two days. Monday, the House turned down a similar move by the Progressive Conservatives.

The move came during discussion of a bill amending the Criminal Code. One section proposed by Justice Minister Garson and adopted Monday would make it treason to assist troops engaging in hostilities with Canadian troops, even though no formal state of war exists.

An amendment proposed by Solon Low, Social Credit leader, today would have extended the offense to helping the country whose armed forces are engaged in the military operations of undeclared war.

MALIK ILL, PEACE TALKS DELAYED

U.N. Russian Substitute Powerless To Talk;
Delegates Doubtful Special Session Useful

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Illness of Soviet delegate Jakob Malik today foiled United Nations delegates' hopes of immediately determining Russia's plans for ending the war in Korea.

The U.N. General Assembly held a routine session honoring President Galo Plaza Lasso of Ecuador. But Malik, who started the world Saturday with a suggestion that the belligerents discuss a cease-fire, was reported "indisposed."

Malik, who has suffered from a heart condition for years, was represented at the Assembly session by his alternate, Semyon Tsarapkin.

Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam, who hurried from Washington Monday with the announced intention of seeing Malik as quickly as possible, was unable to get any elaboration on the Soviet terms from Tsarapkin.

Usually well-informed sources said the Israeli delegation has sounded out other delegations on the idea of a special session but so far no decision has been taken. Sentiment among U.N. delegates seemed generally that any Assembly session within the next day or two would not be of benefit.

Washington Monday with the announced intention of seeing Malik as quickly as possible, was unable to get any elaboration on the Soviet terms from Tsarapkin.

Lie Flies Back From Europe

Secretary-General Trygve Lie hurried back to New York from Europe to coordinate plans for U.N. consideration of Russian armistice proposals after a conference in London with Canadian and British officials.

At the same time Britain announced it was beginning talks in Washington with 15 other governments which have forces in Korea.

The consensus among U.N. delegates here ranged from guarded optimism to frank skepticism regarding the Saturday proposal by the Soviet U.N. delegate, Jakob Malik, that both sides withdraw from the 38th Parallel and start talks for a Korean peace settlement.

Some observers in Washington felt there may be strings attached to the Russian bid—endorsed yesterday by Peiping radio even while Chinese Reds were assaulting U.N. battle lines.

Korean President Doubtful

American skepticism was pointed up by Ridgway, who made a flying visit to Pusan to see the Korean president, Syngman Rhee.

The general, who remarked that things are looking up, commented on the cease-fire:

"I would want an iron-clad agreement. I'm not willing to take a bill of goods."

Rhee, after consulting with his cabinet, said "the fact that leaders of Soviet Russia now are seeking peace is admission by them of defeat." He added that Malik's proposal was "entirely unacceptable" to the Republic.

Pravda, Izvestia Approve

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda printed an editorial today urging peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict.

The official Communist party newspaper, in the first Russian press comment on the matter, gave full approval to the proposal of Jakob Malik, Soviet United Nations delegate, who proposed in a New York radio address Saturday that the belligerents in Korea discuss a cease-fire.

Pravda said Malik's proposals showed how the Soviet people felt about Korea.

"The Soviet people are convinced that there exist all possibilities for a peaceful settlement of the Korean question," it said.

Both Pravda and the Government newspaper Izvestia told the Soviet public President Truman supported the Malik proposal for ending the Korean fighting.

Marines Want Draft

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps commander, said today the Marine Corps will have to resort to the draft to attain its authorized strength.

cash betting only at the horse or dog tracks. Off-the-track hand-book betting is legal only on a credit basis. The poor, who can't get credit, bet cash just the same with fly-by-night street corner bookies.

A Royal commission on gambling brought out the cash-betting shop solution in a report issued April 17. Parliament has so far taken no action.

"The present law about street betting is unenforceable," the Archbishop said.

"Most reluctantly I feel that probably the change proposed is the only reasonable one, and that under the strictest controls it should be tried on the ground that it is enforceable and removes an injustice."

Magistrate S. S. Main made it a condition of dismissal of civil charges that the R.C.A.P. give Crown Prosecutor Guy Beaudry a full report of the military trial and punishment of the accused.

If the punishment was not considered sufficient, city police charges would be re-laid, the magistrate said. Wing Cmdr. M. E. Pollard gave assurances the men would be punished because they had been given "definite instructions" not to carry weapons.

Weapon-Armed Airmen Face Military Trial

EDMONTON, (CP)—Nine airmen arrested by Edmonton police for carrying offensive weapons today were turned over to R.C.A.P. authorities for disciplinary action.

The airmen were picked up Saturday night by police patrols guarding against outbreaks of street fighting between teenagers and service men.

Magistrate S. S. Main made it a condition of dismissal of civil charges that the R.C.A.P. give Crown Prosecutor Guy Beaudry a full report of the military trial and punishment of the accused.

If the punishment was not considered sufficient, city police charges would be re-laid, the magistrate said. Wing Cmdr. M. E. Pollard gave assurances the men would be punished because they had been given "definite instructions" not to carry weapons.

Those "straws-in-the-wind" by-elections caused at least one Liberal chief to exclaim: "Well, blow me down!"

That 20 shut-out by new manager Sturgeon was pure caviar to starvin' Athletic fans.

Princess Pats Earn Presidential Citation For Great Korea Stand

TOKYO (Reuters)—Canadian, Australian and United States

units credited with saving the Allied line during the Communist spring offensive have been awarded presidential citations, it was announced today by Lt. Gen.

James van Fleet, Eighth Army commander.

The citations have gone to the 2nd Battalion, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry,

the 3rd Battalion of the Royal

Australian Regiment and Company "A" of the 72nd U.S. Heavy

Tank Battalion.

Fighting as units of the 27th

Commonwealth Brigade, the Canadian and Australian units were honored "for gallantry, determination and esprit-de-corps in accomplishing their missions

under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions" against

Communist forces near Kapyong

during the Chinese offensive

April 24 and 25.

With the American company

the Canadians and Australians were credited with blunting and halting a deep penetration which endangered the entire United Nations line in the central sector.

The action was believed to have been decisive in the final defeat of the initial Communist statement.

"I make a larger salary

than the figure I gave the

Asked why he didn't give the correct answer the first time, he explained:

"Well, my wife was listen-

The Princess Patricia's fought until every bullet was gone to stop the Chinese spring offensive dead in its tracks the night of April 24-25. Then they hurled their empty, bayoneted rifles enemy, advancing in waves upon the Canadian positions. But they didn't give an inch.

With other battalions of the 27th British Commonwealth Brigade, the Patricia's were taken out of a holding position and

Alberta Dams Threatened By Flood Waters

RAYMOND, Alta. (CP)—Five hundred townsmen worked through the night to reinforce the dam of the reservoir from which this southern Alberta town draws its water supplies.

Run-off from recent torrential rains has filled the reservoir to the brim and the overflow spillway is taxed to capacity. The volunteers worked to strengthen weak spots in the dam.

Three secondary dams and the town's sewage-disposal plant also are threatened. The forecast is for more rain.

Flood conditions were reported elsewhere in the area. South-of Macleod the Belly River flooded and water surrounded the Hutterite colony there.

One-half mile of the Macleod-

Cardston highway is under 16 to 18 inches of water. The section has been closed to traffic.

Conscription Of Fighters Is Under Way

Fanned by a brisk wind, fire today swept through rich timberlands in the Campbell River district of the island, 150 miles north of here.

The fire is raging uncontrolled through 1,000 acres of land and is being fought by 300 men, scores of whom stayed on the fire lines throughout the night.

Centre of the fire is the Elk River Timber Company Camp No. 8 at Beaver Lake.

The flames raced through a forestation area and forestry officials said the fire had already undone the work of 10 years. The job of planting an old slash area started in 1940.

Exhausted by the night-long battle, many of the firefighters had to be taken from the fire-front today.

More men are being conscripted hourly on the streets of Campbell River and neighboring communities, 20 miles from Beaver Lake.

The situation was serious throughout the Vancouver forest district, which includes all of Vancouver Island.

Days of intense heat have dried out forest lands and a general closure on travel in the woods may be ordered.

At the same time it was learned the Navy may be called to assist in the fighting of a major fire burning through Sitka spruce on Moresby Island in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

H.M.C.S. Ontario was reported standing by ready to send men ashore to help fight the Queen Charlotte fire south of Skidgate Lake which has destroyed 6,000,000 feet of felled and bucked logs and valuable logging machinery.

JUMPED FIRE LINES

The Campbell River fire, reported nearly under control Monday, jumped fire guards in the evening and forest service officials said:

"It looks as though we're going to have more trouble."

Flames are spreading rapidly in a south-easterly direction, where large tree plantations are situated, reports stated.

A Central B.C. Airways aircraft on charter to the forest service for fire fighting work was flown from Kamloops to assist in the Campbell River fire which started last Thursday on operations of Elk River Timber Company.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

CASTLES AND KINGS

COPENHAGEN—You don't have to be in Copenhagen long before you become very conscious of the influence still wielded by King Christian the Fourth, despite the fact that this particular monarch has been dead since 1648. For on every hand you are reminded that he meant just about as much to this city as Columbus did to America.

Wherever you turn and see a particularly beautiful building in the Renaissance style you are pretty safe in saying that Christian the Fourth was responsible. In fact, if it hadn't been for his love of the beautiful—and his extravagance, which wasn't so well appreciated by his subjects at the time—Copenhagen would not be the magnificent city that it is today.

CASTLE ROSENBERG

ONE OF THE most impressive memorials to King Christian is the Rosenberg Castle, which was started in 1606 and finished in 1633, and where he died in 1648. It was designed as a "pleasure house" for his very late majesty, with the result that the rooms are rather small—as castles go—and, as in all the places of that period, each floor can only be reached by the winding corkscrew stone staircase in the outside tower.

Incidentally, I was intrigued when the guide pointed out the hidden "house telephone"—a very primitive type of speaking-tube concealed behind a panel in a window embrasure—which, legend has it, was used by the king to get in touch with his mistress in another part of the castle.

PRICELESS TREASURES

SINCE ABOUT the year 1801, however, the castle has been used only to house the priceless and historic souvenirs, furniture, ornaments and crown jewels of the royal heads of Denmark from the time of Christian the Fourth until today, known as "the chronological collection." But the rooms with their old furnishings and magnificent treasures have an atmosphere and grace unequalled perhaps, in the world.

The Great Hall, for instance, with its black and white marble floor and wonderful stucco and painted ceiling, contains the three life-sized, solid silver lions—made in Copenhagen in the 17th century—and the very ornate, solid silver thrones used at all coronations in Denmark.

SILVER FURNITURE

THE SAME King Christian evidently had a penchant for silver furniture, as in more than one room is to be seen a huge fireplace of ebony, inlaid with silver, as well as enormous fireplaces and fireless tables of solid silver. Great cabinets and highboys are also made of tortoiseshell, inlaid with silver, while in other rooms whole fireplaces or wall panelings are made of carved ivory.

It is impossible, of course, to touch on more than one or two of the priceless treasures, but in the room devoted to the crown jewels, I noticed magnificent riding equipment made for Christian the Fourth for use at the wedding of his eldest son in 1634. It consisted of a huge saddle, with head-gear and saddle-cloth, pistol holsters, scabbards, etc., all made of black velvet embroidered by hand in an intricate design with 10,000 pearls, diamonds and sapphires set in gold.

VENETIAN GLASS

HIS CROWN, too, is ornate to a degree—a marvel in gold filigree which took three men three years to make. It is set with pearls and huge, table-cut diamonds, interspersed with 200 figures of knights, etc., from early Danish history, all made in enamel, whose colors are as clear today as when made.

An amusing note is struck by the astronomical clock made for the same king in 1594 by a famous German clock-maker. It is of gilt-brass, rather like a tiered-tower in shape, and shows date, year, phases of the moon, etc. Each quarter of an hour is struck by mechanical figures that circle the particular tier, and after the hour strikes, the three Magi pass the Virgin Mary and bow to her, while the chimera are playing a hymn. As a quaint finale, a cock on top of the clock heralds the last stroke of the hour with a flap of his wings and a loud crow.

CHINA AND GLASS

MY FEMININE readers would feel envious, I'm sure, of the exquisite collection of Venetian glass and rare china, which are kept in two smaller rooms. King Frederik the Fourth visited Italy in 1709 and brought back with him what is still said to be the finest collection and largest of Venetian glass in the world—even knives, forks and spoons of the fragile stuff!

As to the china collection, it includes the most complete and exquisite services of Dresden, Sevres, Meissen, Chinese porcelain, and other rare and beautiful pieces which, while still in use for state occasions, are in perfect condition, ancient though they are.

To Solve Dump Problem

Esquimalt councillors promised a delegation of 185 petitioners Monday night that the filling project at the Transfer garbage dump area will be completed in eight weeks and garbage dumping will cease.

Members of the delegation were assured the area will become a desirable park site when the work is concluded.

Robert Stewart, 1202 Lockley Road, spokesman for the group, said the dump area caused unwholesome smells over a large area.

Councillor Dallaway said he felt council was partly to blame for conditions at the Transfer but asked for patience.

A proposal to sell three Colville Road lots, formerly used as play areas, was tabled until a report is obtained on present use of the lots.

NEW SOLID FUEL BOON TO BUSY HOUSEWIFE

More and more Victoria home owners are using Gasco Briquets to provide heat for their homes, according to local coal dealers. This new fuel has really taken hold and if the demand continues it will displace coal to a very large extent.

The reasons are obvious. They are made from pure carbon extracted from oil. No ashes to waste time, to waste money. They're all heat! No other solid fuel can begin to give the home owner the convenience and economy of Gasco Briquets. This fuel burns steadily, with a rosy, cosy glow that keeps your home uniformly warm from morning to night. And with less work.

You fill your furnace just twice a day—forget the rest of the time. No ashes to carry over, and it gives the same care-free heat whether burned in furnace, fireplace, heater or range. That's why the busy housewife likes Gasco Briquets.

Available at Rose Fuel Co., 1700 Douglas St., E1185.

Feathered Alarm Clocks Not Popular In Saanich

Saanich council voted 4 to 2 Monday night to defeat a move to amend a by-law to permit residents of urban areas to keep up to 12 chickens.

The motion was advanced by Councillor William Kersey. Reeve Joseph Casey said he felt the proposal would have a deteriorating effect on residential areas. In another action, councillors rapped the reappointment of W. L. Woodhouse, of Oak Bay, to the St. Joseph's Hospital board of management, as Saanich representative. Appointment was made known in a letter from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

Reeve Casey, who said he was against the appointment, noted that Mr. Woodhouse was also representing Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich.

The council adopted a resolution in protest. Reeve Casey, Municipal Clerk John Tribe and Councillors Kersey, H. K. Bate and E. P. Cummins were named to attend the U.B.C.M. convention October 9-11 at Harrison Hot Springs.

Council also voted to consult with Victoria City Council regarding policy in connection with the proposed B.C. Telephone Company rate hike.

Check On Bookies' Phones Abandoned

Proposed Amendment To Criminal Code Dropped By Justice Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson withdrew in the Commons today a proposed criminal-code amendment which would allow police to check on telephone calls from places suspected of being gambling houses.

Mr. Garson said the government would "reconsider" the clause, which had been submitted by the Ontario government to help stamp out bookmaking.

The withdrawal came after John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre), who first raised the issue Monday night, again criticized the clause. The withdrawal was approved by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Mr. Garson said the clause would allow police to check on numbers called from suspected lines, but not to record conversations. It had been submitted by Ontario and given careful study.

The government had thought the clause would be acceptable. But in view of the "strong opposition" presented by Progressive Conservative members, and considering the fact that many of the opposition were from Ontario ridings, the government would be willing to "reconsider."

Mr. Diefenbaker thanked the minister and said he hoped that the clause would "be dropped without qualification."

The Government Is Rebuked

IN MONDAY'S FEDERAL BY-ELECTIONS the St. Laurent Government received a sharp rebuke from four constituencies. In a pretty broad cross-section of the country all Government candidates were defeated. Public dissatisfaction with the Government is unmistakable. Perhaps in times like these it is inevitable.

In one sense the Government's defeat may be considered a healthy development in our politics.

On the one hand it pricks the somewhat inflated self-confidence of the Liberal Party which, in recent times, has almost seemed to believe that it was invulnerable. This mood of complacency should now pass. While governments traditionally lose by-elections after a victory in general elections, the loss of four seats—three of them regarded as unquestionably safe—cannot be brushed off as an accident.

On the other hand, the opposition in Parliament has been strengthened, not so much in numbers; since four votes one way or the other are insignificant at present, but in spirit. The Conservative Party clearly is no longer dead as the Government imagined. Its new signs of life will greatly improve the whole tone of Parliament on both sides.

It will be unfortunate, however, if the Government, shocked by these unexpected results, is terrified into surrender of deflationary policies which are temporarily unpopular among some groups. For the nation's good the Government should hew to the line which it has drawn regardless of immediate political consequences. The long-term strength of the Liberal Party also will be best served by courage and damaged by retreat.

As in all by-elections, local controversies played an important part in the four vacant seats. In Brandon and Winnipeg the city voters, like their country neighbors, are annoyed at the Government's refusal to pay more than $65 millions for the farmers' losses on the British wheat contract. Waterloo, in Ontario, is a traditional Conservative seat which has returned to its old party allegiance. What is disturbing the voters of Prince Edward Island the new dispatches do not indicate but the Maritimes are usually in protest against any existing government at Ottawa.

However, when the Liberal Party has made every attempt to explain away its defeat the fact remains that the Conservatives have won. It would be more satisfactory if they had won on a definite policy of their own rather than on the Government's unpopularity but in any case Mr. Drew is entitled to congratulations for his first victory.

Reel Or Phon

IT IS TOO EARLY TO JUDGE THE meaning of Russia's latest demarche. Is the offer of a cease-fire in Korea a sincere attempt to write off communism's losses, or is it another manoeuvre of propaganda? The next few days should show. Meanwhile only two points of importance seem clear.

First, Mr. Malik's offer, though couched in general terms and replete with the usual face-saving vituperation, indicates that communism is growing tired of an adventure which has gone sour. Even if the present peace talk comes to nothing, events, both military and diplomatic, show that collective security is winning a great victory, the first of its sort in human history. Nothing has turned out in Korea as Russia had originally planned.

Secondly, the United Nations are ready to negotiate an honorable Korean settlement, with any reasonable compromise which, as Mr. Truman says, does not surrender to aggression. Thus the earlier attempt to reconquer all Korea has been tacitly abandoned. In Mr. Acheson's phrase, the United Nations never guaranteed to unify Korea by force, and hence will be satisfied to liberate south Korea and hope for the unification of the whole country by political means later on.

The offer of negotiation from Russia, doubtless is done as it is told, is being given the most earnest consideration in all western capitals. It cannot be said of this offer as it was said, perhaps wrongly, of others that the United States is refusing negotiation without studying the enemy's terms. The west is eager to wind up the Korean war, even without a world settlement, if it can do so without a compromise.

The terms of such a settlement remain obscure. The communists have abandoned their original demand for possession of all Korea—in itself a great gain for the United Nations and a grave defeat for Russia. But whether they are ready to modify their other terms, China's acceptance in the United Nations and possession of Formosa, remains to be seen. If those terms are still demanded there will be no immediate settlement. This point must be clarified before we can know whether Russia wants peace or not.

The Camel And The Gnat

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S new or increased sales and excise taxes are expected to take $24.6 million more a year from the taxpayers of British Columbia. This is roughly $21.10 per year per person, or $94.40 for an average family of four.

The 20 per cent increase in the income tax on July 1 will cost B.C. taxpayers about $15.8 million for the full year, or $13.50 per head, or $54 for an average family of four.

Add the two increases together and it is seen that the tax bill of this province on the above items is going up by about $40.4 million, which is $34.60 per head or $138.40 for the four-person family.

This increased burden is essential to pay the cost of the nation's defense. It is mentioned here only as a curious commentary on the cost of hospital insurance.

When the legislature increased the cost of hospitalization from $33 to $42 a year for a family, the public outcry rocked the government and a legislative committee is now trying to find some escape from the cost both financial and political. There is, of course, no escape but only the chance of transferring more of the cost from the beneficiaries of insurance to the general body of taxpayers.

Yet when the Canadian parliament raises the taxpayers' average family bill by 15 times the amount of the hospital insurance increase, he accepts that cost as the unavoidable price of national safety. Directly he gets nothing for his money—no more public services, no larger pensions, no usable goods of any kind. He gets only the chance to make the nation safe from external attack, to preserve the services and the society he has.

The price is low and can be accurately reckoned only against the cost of losing everything. In hospital insurance, however, the taxpayer gets a direct benefit, complete hospitalization for himself and his family—with the additional payment of co-insurance—which otherwise might well ruin him in the case of a long illness. But there are still many British Columbians who swallow the camel of federal tax increases and gag at the gnat of a small increase in insurance premiums. And there are still some politicians who would try to disguise the inevitable cost of hospitalization by transferring it from the insurance premiums to the treasury, as if we could avoid it by a bookkeeping trick.

Money When Buttered

THAT ARCH-CAPITALIST, JOSEF Stalin, has discovered an interesting gimmick to destroy the capital of the Russian citizen. Though this is not generally realized in the western world, all Russian money, when it wears out, is simply cancelled. After a paper ruble becomes damaged by long use, "battered" as the Russians wryly call it—it cannot be taken to a bank and exchanged as it can be exchanged here. The government does not give the owner a newly-printed bill. It simply refuses to accept the old one.

The citizen unlucky enough to receive a "battered" bill is stuck with it. No one will accept it. His money is worthless. In this fashion the total money supply is constantly reduced by a kind of deflation, or fraud, which no free people would accept.

There is no nonsense about Russia's method of deflation. The cancellation of worn-out money is only a minor part of it. After the wartime inflation the government called in the inflated money and gave the people new money of less value. By such methods inflation was ended overnight at the cost of the public's savings. And in this process, by a complicated system of exchange, the classes of this classless society which the government favored got more of the new money than the classes which are considered undesirable.

This, under the name of communism, is an upside-down kind of capitalism which no so-called capitalistic society would endure for a moment. But the Russian government, while always denouncing it, is more interested in capital than any government in the world. To build capital in the form of huge industries, most of them for war, the Russian state has sweated its people unmercifully and sweated their savings in the process. The money is "battered" but the public gets guns, not butter.

type found in most Canadian provinces. At no time have they carried out the fiscal policies for which they were elected—the program based on the theory that the excess value of community production over costs could be distributed by the government to the public in the form of a monthly dividend cheque. The fallacy of the policy had long been proved in theory. The past 16 years in Alberta have proved it in practice. The program cannot even be got under way.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

IN BILLING me for my hospital insurance for the past six months, the B.C.H.S. was kind enough to enclose a printed envelope addressed to itself. A lot of people do that in billing you, of course. It stimulates payment. It would stimulate payment still more if the envelope were stamped naturally. It was almost (but not quite) a pleasure to pay my telephone bills in England, since the return envelope bore a stamp.

This didn't cost the telephone people anything, because they are a branch of the Post Office anyhow. But they didn't need to be so polite, and the subscriber enjoyed the experience of paying at least one bill without postage. It made him feel like a king (in a small way).

WHAT interested me in the insurance envelope, however, was the space in the top left corner for my return address. What's going on here anyway? Surely they printed their own correct address on the envelope. And if it is correct, then the Post Office will make sure they get it. There is no possible chance of its going astray. It will never come back to me marked NOT KNOWN HERE, or NO SUCH ADDRESS, or ADDRESSEE DECEASED. Does all this matter? Well, yes, it does. There is just too much efficiency in the world altogether, and when it is purely silly, it might as well be cut out, not yes. The most efficient business letter I ever received was signed "Yours thoroughly." Too right, as the Australians say.

ONE OF MY doctors... for the family seems to have a good many leeches hanging around just now. One of my doctors has fallen into the bad habit of sending me bills typed on the back of his return envelope. When you seal the envelope, the flap covers his statement. Covers it physically, I mean, and not financially. This may now be a common practice, but it is new to me. In my case, it doesn't work very well. I am very business-like about putting all bills in the same place till I get round to paying them. But the place I put them is on my study floor, near the door. This is partly to remind me to pay them, since I see them each time I walk across them. And it is partly to show my contempt for them. I grind them beneath my feet several times a day. They are less than the dust beneath my chariot wheels.

THAT IS QUITE all right with ordinary bills. They get slightly torn and dirty, perhaps, but my creditors don't mind. They are still in pretty good shape when I attend to them. But a gummed envelope masquerading as a bill, things are different. If you come in from the lawn with wet shoes, the bill adheres to you as you trample on it, and it follows you around the house closer than a dog. It finally falls off, in very good repair, in some unexpected place.

If you find it again, either it annoys you because you can no longer read it, or it angers you to be reminded of bills outside business hours. If you don't find it again, you imagine you have paid the wretched thing, and you get into futile arguments with your too-efficient doctor. The only cure is to do barefoot (as I sometimes like to do). It still sticks to wet feet, but you at once become conscious of it. Not very pleasantly conscious, though.

THIS DOCTOR is not attending to me personally, so I cannot suspect him of trying to sicken me through making me go barefoot out of season, or through flogging my nerves with anger and making me secrete too much adrenalin, that by-product of rage. But perhaps he is trying to help other doctors. You've got to look at that. The hospital insurance boys wouldn't attempt such a trick. The hospitals are too full already. The hospitals don't even have emergency cases of broken legs caused by people slipping on paper gummed to their feet.

THE JUNG IDEA

TODAY is the birthday of Carl Jung (b. 1875), the great psychologist and psychiatrist and all that. Some of his theories are now said to be discredited. I don't know about that. I do know he broke away from the psychoanalysts, which must have annoyed them a lot and led them into doing some discrediting. Jung invented the word "complex," now so widely misapplied. The word really means a group of emotionally toned ideas which may be split off from consciousness. For example, with a so-called inferiority complex, you are not aware that you feel inferior at all. On the contrary, your unconscious feeling of superiority has probably led you to feel very superior indeed in your conscious mind, to make up for things. Jung also invented the words "extravert" and "introvert," used now quite as glibly as "complex" is used. Not that I care very much, mind you. I just thought I'd tell you, that's all.

WHAT I like best about Jung is a talk he gave on the BBC during the war. I have a copy of it somewhere, but I've lost it for the moment. It must be among some old bills... it wouldn't be among the uncashed cheques, because I lose those in quite another part of my study, and anyway, they never get piled very deep, alas.

In this talk, as I remember it, he said he had found through bitter experience that it seldom does much good to rid a man of his complexes and stuff. If you clean a man right out, so to speak, and leave him with no inner conflict, he at once begins to pick conflicts with his neighbors instead of with himself. In short, he becomes a bit of a brute. And his end is worse than his beginning.

Now, that's the sort of talk I like and understand. Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, I'd ask you to charge your glasses (in the sense of filling them, please, and not in the sense of sending the bill to me or Dr. Jung), and drink to many more happy birthdays for Carl Gustav Jung. May his tribe increase.

The population of the country is shifting. We had suspected some of it being of the shiftless type.

We were interested to find that the seeing of a humming bird is such a novelty, that the news gets into the paper.

We have had humming birds for the last six weeks or more. There is a nest in one of our trees, and it has young ones in it.

This is only our second spring here, so we are not yet quite used to the conditions here. We saw humming birds in Moose Jaw but not very often.

FAMILY DISCIPLINE

Mr. Art Stott quotes Grade 9, teaching family relationship in the school: Question to the youngsters: "Is it true that Mother always knows best?" Family relationship answer: "No, she sometimes flies off the handle, but as a rule her decisions are right."

This teaching of children to criticize their parents is a sure way of breaking down home discipline, in the same way that army discipline would break down and disintegrate, if soldiers were directed to criticize the judgment of their commanders.

Its incredible, the way parents tolerate this school interference in their homes.

'FAT FEES'

Your issue of the Times of Friday containing the story headed "Toronto Grit Got Fat Fees," leads me to conclude that the Liberal party is becoming more corrupt hourly, if the men of the calibre so named would hold up the taxpayers for the amount stated.

How any lawyer and M.P. for Ontario riding, or for that matter any riding, could receive fees totaling $32,135 over a period of four years—and from the Department of Veterans' Affairs—for tax certificates, registration of title documents, sheriff's certificates, office maintenance and traveling expenses as stated, can only lead me to believe the gross inefficiency that exists in our federal departments, in that these vouchers were not duly authorized, and it makes me wonder just the type of man that could, at the expense of the veteran, reap nearly a quarter of a million dollars for mere registrations, certificates, and so on.

What is the legal profession on this basis charging for these services? And Mr. St. Laurent asks us to practise economy. He had better set his own house in order.

A number of items of wide interest appear in the recent annual report of the B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

This is the parent body of the society in British Columbia, entrusted with assisting in the establishment of branch societies and with carrying on the society's work in unorganized territory.

The comprehensive report concerning rodeos given recently by Mr. D. C. Ricardo of Vancouver contained valuable first-hand information and at the request of the American Humane Society, Mr. Ricardo had presented a similar paper at the society's 74th annual convention held in Hollywood last October.

Other items of note were the report of 381 cases of cruelty investigated and prosecutions initiated where warranted; the society's operations in connection with the transportation of livestock through the province; the intention to present medals to persons who make heroic rescues of animals and the report that the Canadian Veterinarians' Association has offered an award of $100 to children under 18 years of age who show particular interest in animal welfare.

Under Our Roof

By JOHN RHODES STURDY

THERE is something about living in the country that makes you more good-natured, or weaker, or both. Take, for instance, the attitude towards door-to-door canvassers. Living in a city conditions you to this type of salesman, and you are likely to discover traits of violence that you never dreamed you possessed. The slammed door, the plover of water emptied from the second story window, the snarling hound set loose.

But it's different in the country. Maybe, surrounded by nature and this sort of thing, you feel more kindly towards your fellow-men, even if they come around to the door selling little brushes or vacuum cleaners or sets of the encyclopedia. You're liable to find yourself inviting the fellow in for a pot of tea, or taking him over to look at the garden or the chickens, or even end up having him for dinner.

Or maybe it's just low sales resistance with me. Even back in the City, I was a pushover for hawkers. Mostly it was razor blades. There was a little man who used to come around and sell me three packets of razor blades twice a week. I couldn't resist him, and he knew it, and at one time I had a whole bureau full of razor blades. I just couldn't get up enough nerve to tell the little man that I used an electric razor.

All this comes to mind because of what happened recently. My resistance was certainly at its lowest ebb, what with contemplating the arrival of Hamish, the assistant janitor in my old apartment house Back East, and Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.), who are planning to pay us a visit and disrupt our idyllic existence on the island. Anyway, my wife had gone off in the car and left me with a two-dollar bill with which to pay the grocery man, and there I was, sitting on the back step shelling peas, when this young lady arrived.

The young lady stayed for five and a half minutes and talked. I am positive she never heard of a punctuation mark because her words joined together in a continuous stream that left me completely dazed. I got the impression, somehow, that she wanted to fly an airplane. There was some mention, too, of lessons and credits and a competition which she hoped to win, and of course, I would help her, wouldn't I, thank you very much.

She was gone just as suddenly, and I was still standing there, with a pea pod in my hand, when my wife and the grocery man arrived together.

"Pay him, dear," my wife said. "I beg your pardon?" I asked. "Pay the grocer. You know—with the two dollars I left you."

Of course, I didn't have the two dollars. And I couldn't say to my wife, "Look, dear, while you were gone a young lady was here, and I gave her the money," because my wife would most certainly ask why, and for the life of me I didn't know.

So I had to say I had lost the two dollars, and that didn't go down very well, either.

Yesterday I learned the truth. I was in the village post office and there was quite a crowd there, and I saw the postmaster leaning at me through the wicket. "Your magazine is here," he said to me.

All my subscriptions have run out so I said there must be some mistake, and the postmaster said, no, and gleefully held up a magazine so that the entire crowd could see the cover.

It had a title, "Hidden Love Secrets" and a cover illustration that melted the paint on the "Stamps For Sale" sign. I could hear the sudden intake of breath all around me.

"Don't be ridiculous," I said. "That's not for me."

"It certainly is," the postmaster said. "Look—here's your name and address printed right on the cover. And as far as I know, there's no one else by that name on this whole island."

He thrust the horrible thing at me, and fled. People backed away from me in disgust, and deep in the crowd I heard a diabolical laugh.

I wonder how long a two-dollar subscription runs?

Total War And Co-Existence

By WALTER LIPPMANN
From Washington

BEFORE breaking off for several months' absence I am going to yield to the temptation to set down a few ideas on the great question of war and peace with the Soviet Union. My own view is that in a total war between the Soviet orbit and the Atlantic community the Soviet government would be destroyed, the Soviet empire would be demolished, Western Europe would sink into anarchy, and North America, victorious but weary, impoverished and isolated, would find it hard to preserve the remnants of its freedom, harder still to bring back to life again the stricken civilization of the western world.

Put in other words, I believe that the United States would win the military victory against the Soviet empire. The war, however, would be so devastating and so prolonged that in all of the Eurasian continent there would be left no governments of sufficient power and authority to make peace and to restore order and to reconstruct the ruined world.

VAST DISORDER

In the place of governments there would be, I believe, a vast and formless disorder of bolshevized warlords, petty chieftains, local dictators, bandit clans and terrorist gangs. For in a total war we would have to destroy many of the great cities and particularly the great centres of administration and communication, in order to achieve victory.

This destruction of the centres of administration and communication would set in motion a human migration of desperate and starving hordes pressing upon and fusing with the Red armies as they invaded Western Europe, looting the cities and the countryside and destroying as they went the human structure of the existing society.

WITHOUT END

In so far as the war was a total war and its aim was victory, the catastrophe would be well-nigh universal. Instead of its being the war to end war, which we fondly hoped for in 1917, it would be the war that could not be ended. This is the fundamental characteristic of the total wars of this century—that they have become increasingly more irreparably destructive and more hopelessly indecisive.

I do not, of course, regard a total war as inevitable, and I am not inclined to think it will be started deliberately—as Hitler started the Second World War or as the theorists of a preventive war in the United States would have it. I do think, however, that we are being sucked into a war of this kind, sucked into conflicts here or there in which it becomes increasingly difficult to do anything except to enlarge the conflict.

OUT OF CONTROL

The conflict will, I believe, broaden until it gets out of control and, therefore, there is a settlement between the Soviet Union and the Atlantic community.

When I speak of a settlement with the Soviet Union I do not mean a marriage. I mean a divorce. I mean the fixing of boundaries between their world and ours—the frontiers to be defended by armaments—a modest and regulated mutually profitable trade to be permitted, and an agreement to reduce the propaganda war from, let us say, volcanic hatred to icy dislike.

Negotiation of this kind is what I mean by military negotiation. In its essentials it is an armistice arranged before the war, it does not mean that the two antagonists have come to love each other or even that they agree with one another. It means only that each has recognized the limits of its military power and has understood the consequences of a war.

Annual Physical Check Mooted For City Firemen

An annual medical examination may be in the offing for Victoria firemen.

The fire wardens' committee Monday voted to recommend to City Council that a clause making such a check-up a condition of employment be taken up in negotiating the next agreement with the firefighters' union.

The union likely will be asked its reactions to the idea immediately and if its members are in favor, there is a possibility the scheme might be put into effect this year.

In suggesting the examinations, Ald. F. G. Mulliner, committee chairman, said they could be given by the city's medical health officer or someone designated by him.

"Annual medical examinations would be good for the men and for the fire department," Ald. Mulliner said.

The committee also will recommend City Council send the idea to the next meeting of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities for that group's reactions.

Fire Chief R. T. Brindle said many cities already have annual check-ups for firemen.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

A reader who has had considerable experience with commercial greenhouses, was chatting with me the other day on the lime and water mixture suggested in this column as being the easiest form of summer-shade for the home gardener's greenhouse.

He pointed out the difficulties of applying it with a sprayer, the detrimental effect it has on paint, and the annoyance of having to replace it after each summer shower.

To overcome these inconveniences, the gardener has had to resort to commercial products which are usually sold only in quantities out of all proportion to the amount of glass he needs to shade, thus making the purchase of summer-shade an expensive item.

It was at this point in the conversation that I learned of a simple mixture which appears to have wide possibilities, and may be the answer to the small greenhouse owner's prayer. Originally published in a gardening magazine, the formula has been somewhat modified, but consists of ordinary laundry starch, whitening and water.

The quantities to use will depend on the area of glass to be covered and may be determined by a little experimenting, but the proportions are one part of starch to two parts of whitening. The starch may be purchased from the home laundry supply or purchased from the corner grocery, and the whitening from the hardware or paint supply store.

It would appear that the ingredients should be mixed dry and then stirred into a smooth paste with a little water, after which sufficient water is added to thin the mixture to a consistency which will give the required amount of shade.

The starch imparts a smoothness which makes the mixture easy to apply with a brush, or a pressure sprayer may be used if more convenient. The beauty of this formula is that it resists light summer showers, but the heavier rains of fall soon wash the glass clean.

Right now, I am so enthused over the matter, that I hastily thank my informant, and rush to make up a batch for immediate application. I'll let you know later how it works.

Trade Need May Spur China Peace

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON (AP). — The need to restore trade with the United States may help make Communist China more receptive to the idea of settling the Korean war.

Officials told a reporter today there is evidence that the Chinese Reds feel the effects of losing the United States as a supplier and as a market—and they might feel the effects a lot.

Goods from Communist China are continuing to come to the United States—by way of Russia, in many instances—although:

1. Red Chinese are fighting American troops in Korea; (2) the U.S. for months has banned shipment of any U.S. goods to Communist China; and (3) China's Red rulers have retaliated with a ban — on paper — against Chinese goods going to the U.S.

Commerce department officials said $25,600,000 worth of Chinese goods were received in the United States between Jan. 1 and April 30.

Chinese shipments here have been declining from month to month, but officials say that may be due to China's having to get them here in a roundabout way since no American ships are allowed to go to China now either for deliveries or pick-ups.

While the dollar value of shipments was down to $2,700,000 in April from $4,900,000 in March and a monthly average of $12,100,000 in 1950, officials said it is significant that Chinese goods are continuing to come here at all.

MacArthur Probe Ends 42-Day Task

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's 42-day inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Far East ended today with Arthur as supreme commander a top United States air chief declaring "We made a mistake" in failing to bomb Communist Chinese bases in Manchuria.

"We are paying for that mistake now," said Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell, former head of the Far East bombing command and now commander of the 15th Air Force.

Coupled with this testimony, O'Donnell warned Soviet Russia

Winding up some 2,045,000 words of testimony by 13 witnesses, O'Donnell said Allied planes should have been permitted to strike at the enemy in Manchuria last fall when the

VACATION GUIDE

Shawnigan Area Has Much To Offer!

The above picture shows some of the uneven frontage of popular Shawnigan Lake, which stretches for some 20 miles round. The cool waters provide old and young alike with an excellent place to swim.

Thirty miles from Victoria by auto, beautiful Shawnigan Lake is just three miles off the main highway. Highlighting the comfortable one-hour journey to Shawnigan... is the ever-popular Malahat mountain drive which starts at Goldstream and ends at the Malahat summit. Here at an altitude of 1,250 feet, many memorable views are afforded!

To the vacationer, bold Bald Mountain close at hand... offers a real challenge! It's a rugged, invigorating climb to the summit! On the mountain top, resting and picnicking are preferred pastimes... and here, the hiker may enjoy a panoramic view of the entire Shawnigan area, the blue waters of the straits and the gulf islands.

Tories In Sweep Of By-Elections

Gain Three Federal Seats In Four Victories; Howie Meeker New M.P.

By BRITISH UNITED PRESS

The once-decimated Progressive Conservative party gained heart and three seats in the House of Commons today after sweeping the boards in four federal by-elections.

HOWIE MEEKER

WALTER DINSDALE

GORDON CHURCHILL

WING CMDR. J. A. MACLEAN

Monday's voting was rated politically as a possible sign of the shape of things to come for the Conservatives who have not been in power in Ottawa since the dying days of the Bennett administration in October, 1935.

Parliamentary opposition leader George Drew's militantly-determined candidates held the traditionally-Tory seat of Waterloo South, Ont. They ousted Liberal and C.C.F. standard-bearers in Queens, Prince Edward Island, Brandon, and Winnipeg South Centre, Manitoba. Those three ridings had been solidly Liberal in the past.

Although the results came out with Conservatives in the driver's seat there was little chance that the blanket victory could do anything to turn the tide of government plans in the House of Commons. The party standing still gave the Liberals of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent the whip hand.

The standing in the House today, counting Monday's results, was: Liberals, 185; Conservatives, 46; C.C.F., 13; Social Credit, 10; Independent Liberal, 4, and Independent, 4; a total of 262.

NO VACANCIES

There now are no vacancies in the federal house.

Drew said the Tory victory spoke for itself and left it pretty much at that in a 40-word victory statement issued in Ottawa.

Even some of the Liberals didn't seem to mind the Conservative rally too much.

"It's tough, of course," one leading Liberal said. "But from the democratic standpoint, it's good that the opposition has been strengthened."

The first Conservative victory was registered in Prince Edward Island's Queens constituency, a long-time Liberal stronghold that became vacant with the death of Liberal J. L. Douglas.

Wind-Cmdr. J. Angus Maclean polled 9,140 votes for the Conservatives compared with 8,691 of Liberal C. A. Miller.

MAY QUIT HOCKEY

The Maritime result had hardly been announced when a concession in Waterloo South, held previously by Conservative Karl Homuth, gave Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star Howie Meeker his first chance at playing politics in Ottawa instead of hockey in the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

Meeker, who said he might quit hockey now he is a member of Parliament, had a clear 2,000 majority over the lone woman contender, Socialist Mrs. Peggy Geens, and Liberal Mel Moffatt.

In the West, the Tories chalked up decisive victories in Brandon and Winnipeg South Centre.

Conservative candidate Gordon Churchill, a 52-year-old lawyer, topped a two-way opposition of Liberal Norman Wright and Charles Biesick, C.C.F., in a battle fought in the rain over the government's agricultural policies.

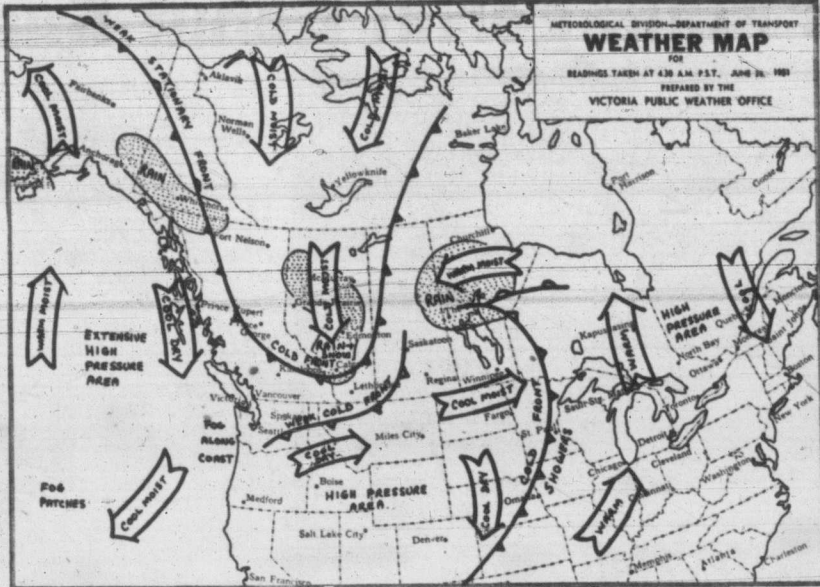

The Tories won a similarly wide margin in Brandon, where Walter Dinsdale, 48, was acclaimed the final victor with an uncontested margin over Liberal J. W. Grant.

Would-Be Jumper Taken Off Bridge

TACOMA (AP)—Police and firemen rescued a would-be jumper from the top of the 11th Street Bridge Monday after almost an hour of coaxing.

The man, clad in blue denim trousers and a sweat shirt, identified himself as John Spanner, 28, of Kalama, Wash. He was held at city jail for investigation.

Spanner was discovered darning about precariously in the superstructure of the bridge, high above the bridge floor.

R.C.A.F. In Eight-Nation Exercise

LONDON (CP)—Aircraft of Canada's Maritime Squadron flew high over the English Channel today, providing convoy escort in an exercise involving 85 ships and 15 squadrons of aircraft.

Countries participating in the week-long exercise are Canada, Britain, the United States, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark and Norway. Reconnaissance planes from the R.C.A.F.'s No. 405 Squadron, commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Dagg of Vancouver, will break from the patrol occasionally to simulate attacks on submarines, using practice bombs instead of depth charges.

The operation, known as "Exercise Velox," marks a third phase in the Canadian Squadron's month of training in the United Kingdom. The second stage was completed last week with an operation known as the "flag officer submarine summer war," staged in the Irish sea against 17 submarines from the Royal and Dutch navies.

This was a gruelling test. No. 405 squadron flew an around-the-clock schedule, with four aircraft in the air continuously for seven days regardless of weather conditions.

Wary Canadian pilots carrying out anti-submarine sweeps and convoy-escort patrols said it rained, and rained, and rained. "We had no choice in the weather up there at all," said Sqdn. Ldr. R. J. Gordon of Bobcaygeon, Ont. "It was bad all the time."

The squadron's small ground-serving crew toiled long hours in the open keeping the Lancaster reconnaissance aircraft in shape for the long over-water flights.

Increase In Convictions For Drunk Driving Likely

OTTAWA, (CP)—The Commons last night approved a series of Criminal Code amendments tightening the laws against drunken driving, sex offenders and treason.

They were adopted as the chamber moved slowly through the annual Government bill making alterations in the code on the basis of recommendations from provincial authorities. Some additional changes await consideration.

Justice Minister Garson, piloting the legislation, predicted that the number of convictions for drunken driving will increase as a result of amendments in this category.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre, Sask.), the Progressive Conservative opposition's chief legal spokesman, said he did not think the new drunken-driving provisions were tight enough.

One of the new provisions provides for admission as evidence in drunken-driving court cases of the resuscitation of chemical tests taken of the breath of blood of the accused. However, the tests are not obligatory. Further, said Mr. Garson, they will not be available in some rural areas.

Another creates a new offense—that of driving while the ability to drive is "impaired" by alcohol, as distinct from the customary charge of driving while drunk. This is expected to facilitate convictions in cases where outright intoxication cannot be proved.

W. F. Carroll (L-Inverness-Richmond, N.S.), a former justice of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, suggested the tests would be of little value because of the varying effects alcohol has on different people.

Mr. Diefenbaker opposed the substitution of a fine for the present mandatory seven-day jail term for those convicted of drunken driving for the first time. The jail sentence, he suggested, has served as a deterrent.

onto-Eglinton) and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC-Nanaimo) that action being taken against convicted sex offenders who loiter or wander near a school ground or a playground be extended to cover public parks and public bathing areas.

The new law provides that the sex offenders, if found loitering in those areas, will be guilty of vagrancy.

Breaks Engagement

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—Betty Thompson, 18-year-old doomed cancer victim, broke her engagement to sailor Tom Amburn Monday because she thought it best. She insisted she wasn't "mad at him." When their engagement was first announced a few weeks ago Amburn said the publicity upset his mother—in Sioux Falls, S.C. Betty has lost one leg to cancer and the disease has spread to her lungs.

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

Tansy hasn't showed around the Canadian race tracks since the end of the Second World War—and a story goes with it. No, Tansy didn't die a hero's death. Tansy offered to do his bit for his country, as you will see, but fate hadn't cast him in a hero's role. You can take a look at the U.S. Marines raising the flag on Iwo Jima but you won't see Tansy in the picture—Tansy wasn't there. It's too bad, though, because Tansy is very photogenic—particularly if you take a picture of him just after he had cashed a pound of tickets on a winner.

Tansy is one of the charter members of the National Turf Advisers. Some unkind persons refer to members of the N.T.A. as "touts"—an opprobrious term which is resented keenly by the members of the N.T.A.

In any event, Tansy was one of the most vocal members of the N.T.A. and he was known wherever the hay-burners cavorted in Canada. He would arrive in Canada from Florida with the first robin and he would spend the rest of the summer, eating and advising puzzled race track patrons to wager on horses that would win "by as far as a strong country boy can throw a rosy, red apple."

Tansy's appetite was prodigious. They say that he could eat the entire hindquarter of a barbecued steer. There were several occasions when he ate his way clear through the porcelain tops of restaurant tables although the restaurant-owners became singularly narrow-minded about this and called the cops and threatened to sue him for damages.

Amos And Andy And A Hambone

It is likely that Amos had a good deal to do with chasing Tansy out of Canada. Amos was the biggest, blackest son-of-a-buck of Newfoundland dog that you ever saw in your life. Amos belonged to Scotty McArthur, the superintendent of the Thorncliffe track near Toronto.

Now, Andy, the chef at Thorncliffe had been in the habit of giving the remains of the roasts to Amos at the end of the day's racing. Also, he would give the large hambone to Amos when he had finished carving a ham. Amos was very partial to hambones and would lug them away and gnaw on them for hours.

But, one summer at Thorncliffe, Tansy persuaded Andy that his need was greater than Amos. He persuaded Andy to give the hambones to him, instead of the dog.

Tansy was walking out of the Thorncliffe main gate one night, carrying a hambone, when Amos saw him.

Amos let out a roar and sped after Tansy. Tansy took to running and, on his way downtown, he received three tickets for speeding and reckless running through heavy track. Amos, being a well-trained dog, stopped at the main gate, snarling and growling in frustration.

Intake And Discharge

Then, one day in Toronto, Tansy received his U.S. Army call. He wiped a few tears from his eyes and went all the way up to Thorncliffe to say goodbye to Amos.

The big dog was lying behind the barred gate and he snarled when he saw Tansy.

"Goodbye, big dog," said Tansy gently as he looked through the gate. "Old Tansy's going to war and he ain't goin' to bother you no more. You can have them hambones all to yourself."

For once, Amos watched Tansy walk back down the road and he didn't growl.

Tansy reported to his induction centre and they couldn't find a uniform to fit him. They telephoned all over the country for a uniform but the U.S. was fresh out of uniforms his size. Regrettably, the U.S. Army made Tansy a free agent.

You may wonder why Tansy didn't come back to Canada.

Well, he went to Maryland and he fell in love with a lady who operated a hot dog stand. She built hotdogs that were a yard-and-a-half long and she served them in three buns, with elastic bands holding the buns around the hot dog. Tansy's friends say that he's going to stay there until the lady runs out of hot dogs.

The big dog never was the same after Tansy left. When the spring came, he'd lie behind the barred Thorncliffe gate each day, waiting for his old enemy to come trudging up the hill.

He was lying there one evening, just at dusk, and the wind was blowing and making tricky shadows in the dust.

Amos lifted his head for a second and, very briefly, the old fire came into his eyes. He sniffed the breeze and he tried to get up.

A growl started in his throat; rose and then died suddenly—and Amos died with it.

SURPRISED BUT PLEASANT AT APPOINTMENT

Sturgeon Moves In Where Others Failed

Bob Sturgeon, who will manage the Victoria Athletics from now on until he no longer satisfies his employers, has no special formula for victory.

"I have a few theories I would like to put in practice," Sturgeon said Monday afternoon, a few hours after accepting the position left vacant when the requested resignation of Dick Barrett took effect. "Until then, there isn't much I can say."

However, the 30-year-old ex-major leaguer reiterated the statement that has been prevalent since the start of the season concerning the Athletics. "They're a ball team that appears capable of exploding at any time."

He qualified this observation with the remark "the A's haven't hit the ball as well as they should, but I think they have the potential."

His one immediate plan calls for a systematic batting practice before games, while his one immediate want is one more right-handed pitcher. "I'll have to get together with Reg Patterson on that," he said.

Giving credit to Barrett, Sturgeon added: "I think we have the infield in its proper position now with Don Pries at third and Bill Dunn at short. Hal Jackson will remain at first even against left-handed pitching because the record proves he has hit better against left handers this season than against right handers."

"I plan no other changes at the moment," he continued, except perhaps in the batting order.

Sturgeon started his baseball career with Albuquerque, New Mexico, in the Class D Arizona-

Bamford Lone Bright Spot In Foul Bay Win

Bill Bamford put on a great scoring display at the Arena last night as he sparked Foul Bay to a convincing 15-4 senior B lacrosse victory over the hapless Navy club.

Bamford's performance was the high point of an otherwise dull game. He scored his club's last two goals and picked up five assists.

Navy tried to add some life to their club by inserting Dave Friesen of commercial hockey fame into their line. Friesen did not take too well to the change in games and a woefully weak defense added to his problems.

Foul Bay also had a new goal tender, Wayne Henderson, who played in place of Alan Thompson, out with an injured shoulder.

SAILORS LEAD

Navy scored the first goal, Reid counting on a soft shot after two minutes of the first period.

Elmer Mathews snaked his way in to equalize this goal for Bays just 40 seconds later. Jim McKeachie added a second goal for winners 19 seconds later and from that point to the end of the game it was one big scoring scramble for Foul Bay.

They led 6-1 at the end of the first quarter, 11-2 at the half, and scored four more in the second half.

Art Green was runner-up to Bamford for scoring, netting three goals. Foul Bay was without the services of Harry Irwin, class forward. Irwin has joined Nanaimo of the Inter-City League and is ineligible for any further senior B games.

HUDSON HERO

Al Hudson scored a last period goal, his second marker of the game, to give Tillamums a close 4-3 verdict over Western Jokers.

This game was as tight as the second game was loose.

Jokers scored the only goal of the first period, Dick scoring unassisted. Tillamums tied it up and went ahead in the second frame on goals by Bourke and Husband.

Geisser and Moon counted in the third period to put Jokers ahead 3-2. Hudson then tied it up in the third period and won the game after six minutes of the fourth quarter.

THEY DO IT IN THE MAJORS

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Yankees retained the "championship" of New York City today although a bit of bizarre baserunning by Gene Woodling almost cost them the title last night.

Actually, it was Woodling's pinch-single in the 10th inning that beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3, before 71,289 paying fans, largest throng ever to witness an exhibition game in Yankee Stadium.

Woodling's drive, with the bases full, landed in the right field stands and would have been a homer had he not passed Hank Bauer on the base paths. Instead, he was credited with a single.

Cross Cup Bowling Draw

TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—Dick Sinovic's batting average tailed off two points to .381 during the past week, but the hard-hitting Vancouver outfielder was still substantially ahead of all pursuit in the Western International League willow race.

Averages released today from the office of Robert B. Abel, league president, revealed that John Ritchey, Vancouver catcher, is the runner-up in games through Sunday with a .361 mark, up 22 points from his figure of a week ago. In third place at .358 is Wenatchee's Len Neal, also a catcher, who hiked his average eight points.

Sinovic also maintained top notch in the runs-batted-in department by posting a total of 62, up nine from a week ago. Ken Richardson of Spokane and Reno Cheso of Vancouver were second and third with 55 and 54 respectively.

Will Hasey remains the home run pace-setter with nine, despite the fact he left the Wenatchee Chiefs more than a week ago to bring his family north from California. Tied for second place, each with seven, were Richardson, Vic Buccola of Tri-City and Bill White of Victoria.

Oster Hurls No-Hit Game

Sport's history visited Lower Central Park last night and came to rest on the shoulders of Ruth Oster, star hurler for individuals of the Women's Softball League.

Miss Oster was in perfect form as she pitched a no-hit shutout in defeating Toppers 6-0.

In twirling the epic, she struck out seven and walked two, two other runners reaching first on errors. Her mates picked up 10 hits to provide a working margin.

Women's Play Opens At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UP)—The Wimbledon tennis championships swung today into the opening matches in women's singles, which has been "private property" for American girls since 1938 and figures to stay that way.

On tap today, as a result of the entire 64 matches in the first round of men's singles being completed yesterday, were first and second round matches in women's singles and first round matches in men's doubles.

The honor of opening the women's competition on the historic centre court has rightfully been given to blonde Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., who has been reigning queen of the tournament for three straight years.

Two other American girls will see action in second-round matches on the centre court. U.S. champion Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del., 1947 Wimbledon champion and runner-up to Miss Brough for the past two seasons, and Althea Gibson of New York, who will be the first Negro to appear at Wimbledon.

Nancy Craig Fails In Bid

Victoria's Nancy Craig failed to win the Washington State women's table tennis championship in Seattle Sunday. She dropped a five-set match to fellow Canadian Jean Rose of Vancouver, 21-23, 21-14, 20-22, 20-20 and 21-17.

In six other finals this year Nancy had defeated Mrs. Rose. Art Barren of Vancouver won the men's title.

A'S STOP BRAVES

Jim Helps Bob Win 'Big One'

Even the kid who caught the foul fly in the right field stands got a cheer.

That incident was typical of what went on at Athletic Park last night as Bob Sturgeon made his debut as manager of the Victoria Athletics; the Athletics blanked Tri-City Braves, 2-0, and Jim Hedgecock hurled the shutout—a six-hitter.

It would be nice to say that Sturgeon was the hero in his first managerial effort, but he wasn't, at least not wholly.

However, to the fans he was, and the major and minor league veteran received a tremendous cheer when he first came to the plate in the second inning, an even greater one when he singled home Milt Martin with the second run in the seventh inning and a rousing reception when the game was history.

But Sturgeon, who took over from Dick Barrett in the morning, had to share the glory with the team.

HEDGECOCK'S BEST

First there was Hedgecock. Jim, who lost to Salem 1-0 in 10 innings in his last out, was the master from the start. He was in trouble only once—in the sixth inning.

Cy Greenlaw, his mound rival, walked to open the frame. Al Spaeter followed with a single. Vic Buccola stepped to the plate with orders to sacrifice, but never got a chance. Hedgecock picked Spaeter off first, then struck out Buccola. Greenlaw advanced to third when Bill Dunn booted Neil Bryant's ground ball but Hedgecock got Clint Cameron on a line smash to Hal Jackson.

That was the Braves' only serious threat. In no other inning did a runner get past first base.

Second there was Milt Martin, a vastly improved hitter since he returned from Portland.

Martin doubled and singled in four trips, hustled all the way to third on his single which got by rightfielder Cameron, and drove in a run.

Third there was Bill White. Batting in the clean-up slot, Bill (Bob played in left field) connected for a single, double and triple in four trips and scored one run. That run came in the second inning, Martin driving it home with his double.

Then there was Marvin Diercks who made a spectacular leaping catch off the centrefield wall and Don Pries who looked at home on third, and Jackson, back at his old post at first, who started one of the two twin killings.

And just to prove that managers are human—even ones—Sturgeon made an error, but it caused no trouble.

The consensus in the dressing room was that it was a "good one" to win—for Sturgeon, the ball club and for the fans.

And with their reformed spirit bubbling through their veins the A's will try and make it three in a row tonight with big John Tierney nominated to do the hill chores.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

There's always something to break up a Sunday afternoon at the beach, especially when that Sunday follows one of the Shamrocks Sideline Saturday night dances, and this time the Athletics took the play away from the Rocks by virtually firing manager Dick Barrett. In brief that's what happened over the week-end if we discount United's loss to Colingwood while the Robbins brothers were having. Or as the other story goes, the taxi which was sent for Wallace Milligan, who showed up late, got lost.

We'll get to the Athletics later on, but first about that Shamrock dance. The reason we bust into the social department on this deal is because all proceeds from these dances go to aid minor lacrosse. Ernie Fox, the once retired basketball player whose fans of last year consisted of missing a provincial semifinal series free shot in the final second of the game (eventually lost) was there with the announcement that he will drag out the moccasins for one more season.

Over in another corner was George "Porky" Andrews making eyes at another Dominion cage champion Marion (1949 C. & C. Taxi) Kennedy. Pork had come down from Alberni for the hop. He is taking over the assistant physical education instructor's position at Vic High this fall. Soccer star John Fleckburn was on hand but he didn't care to discuss his favorite sport—and although the Robbins incident made him deeply as it would all soccer fans, he declined to comment on it.

Dave Ewing, the old Saanich League basketball star, was his usual cheery self. Arnold Ferguson kept out of harm's way by refusing to talk about lacrosse and the Shamrocks two recent defeats. Arch Browning had his wife's sister from just outside Toronto in tow for this display of western hospitality while club president Andy Ovecharick was willing to cover all bets on a Mann Cup berth for the Rocks.

Norm LaCree was a little out of season but he just wanted it known that the Co-Ops were the best hockey team in town last winter, the Cougars notwithstanding, which brings to mind that Roger Lege has not yet accepted the offer of the Cougars coaching berth next year. All the while Norm Baker was showing two badly bruised and broken knees to anyone who would care to have a look. Yes, it was a good "do" but the last one at Colwood, at least the last one in the old clubhouse. The lease runs out this August and soon the Colwoodians will be in their new quarters down by the fifth tee.

Kewpie Out But Not Down

But it wasn't until late Sunday that the real bombshell broke. General manager Reg Patterson of the A's announced that "The Kewpie" was on his way out. "He will be asked to resign," Pat said. Dick hasn't resigned yet, and he won't either. "I've never quit a ball club yet, and I don't intend to start now," he said last night while withholding any official comment on the surprising but not unexpected move.

Tantamount to being fired, Barrett was relieved of his post in what the directors thought was the best move for the ball club. Bob Sturgeon, who readily accepted the post when given the opportunity, wished it known that he had no derogatory remarks to make concerning Barrett. "It was a total surprise to me to take over Barrett's job," Sturgeon said. "He is one of the finest fellows I ever met." And by the way he said it, we couldn't help but know he meant it.

Watching The Inevitable Happen

Barrett, meanwhile was indignant at the proceedings. He appeared so before the game, the main reason being that he hadn't yet met with the directors who had requested his resignation. Dick spent a few minutes with the club in the dugout, dropped into the directors' box under the stands, poked his head in the press box long enough to say "hello" and wound up watching the A's win from radiocaster Bill Stephenson's booth in what was the fastest game of the season.

After the game the directors were seen gathering in Patterson's office. Even Ray Parfitt who when asked for a comment on the past said "I couldn't bear to watch it any longer" was there. And knowing that discretion is the better part of valor, we left as Barrett prepared to make a belated defense to his executives.

Yes, it was a nice, warm week-end, but not as hot as Patterson's office must have been come 11 o'clock last night.

City Golfers In B.C. Meet

Brian Appleton, John Bigelow, Lyne Thow and Tommy Harris, local junior golfers, will journey to Vancouver this Thursday to take part in the annual B.C. junior golf championship. The tournament will be held at Marine Drive Golf Club Thursday and Friday.

Sid Watson Sparks Fernwood Boxla Win

Saanich received its first loss of the season in pee-wee lacrosse yesterday when thumped by Fernwood 4-2. Sidney Watson tallied three of Fernwood's four goals.

George Brice scored five times to spark Fairfield to a 7-3 win over Oak Bay.

DOUBLE GOES UNCLAIMED AT LANSDOWNE

Payoff Made On Second Horse

VANCOUVER (CP) — A freak daily double paid $101.10 Monday at the second day of the 35-day Lansdowne racing meet.

April Day, a 25-1 shot ridden by Willie Slocum, won the first race and combined with Calcium, winner of the second at 14-1 odds, to take the double.

But none of the 2,000 bettors held a ticket on the combination and the daily double was paid to holders of tickets on April Day and Yreka Snow, place horse in the second race.

It was believed to be the first such instance in British Columbia racing.

GIMPY-KNEED SCHUSTER QUILTS CAPS AS PLAYER

VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—Manager Bill Schuster of Vancouver-Caplanos said last night that he probably is through as an active player this season.

The skipper of the Western International Club has been hobbling around for three weeks since he collided at the plate with catcher Nick Pesut of Tri-City Braves in a game here.

He has a gimpy knee and said he thought he would have to undergo an operation for removal of the cartilage.

However, Schuster, who played at third, is fairly well fixed with reserves and his absence should not seriously cripple the W.I.L. leaders.

Last night the Caplanos beat off a late rally by the Yakima Bears to score an 8-6 victory and increase their margin over Spokane Indians to five games.

Sandy Robertson, the stay-at-home pitcher, got credit for the win, although relieved by Bill Whyte in the ninth.

Anderson, Wood Top Boxla Shots

A couple of mainlanders, Jim Anderson of Vancouver Combines and Alfie Wood of New Westminster Commandos, have taken over the first two places in the Inter-City Lacrosse League scoring race.

Anderson is no stranger to the top division—he has been battling all season for top spot with Arch Browning of Victoria Shamrocks. Wood has been close to the top most of the season and boosted himself by scoring five goals against Indians last week.

He now has 41 points to 43 for Anderson.

Shamrocks "peroxide line" of Whitey Severson, Browning and Norm Baker hold third, fourth and fifth spots in that order. They have 39, 38 and 37 points respectively.

ANDERSON STILL TOPS
In spite of missing the last two Rock games, Bill Anderson continues to lead the goal-tending averages. Bill has an even .75 blocking average. Harry Preston, New Westminster, dropped one point, from .74 to .73 into a second-place tie with Stan Joseph of North Shore.

Tenning Not Enough As Students Fail

B.C. Forest Products cut loose with some timely hitting last night to capture their second senior A softball win of the season, beating Chinese Students 9-6 at Central Park.

Still unable to show anyone except pitcher Stan Tenning who can fathom the senior A batters, Students went down to their second defeat in two days.

Charlie McKay started for the losers and pitched effective ball although he allowed Students to bunch their hits. He was relieved in the ninth by Tenning who scarcely missed a game.

Three singles, and an infield out gave the millmen a two-run cushion in the third inning.

FAST SCORING
Students replied with a run of their own in the bottom of the third. Jimmy Morrison singled in Toy Mar who had walked, and moved around on an infield out.

Forest Products added two more tallies in the fourth and Students notched a singleton in the fifth.

In the seventh after George Barnes had reached first on a fielders' choice and moved to third on pitcher Bud Ross' double, McKay balked to allow Barnes to score. Ross then romped home on Don Hendry's single.

ROBINSON TRIPLES
Donny Robinson highlighted the Students' seventh inning by hitting a booming triple down the right field line. He chased in Gordy Chow who had previously singled and Robinson scored the second run of the frame on an infield out. The score at this point read 6-4 for Forest Products.

Winners notched one run in the eighth when Quinn Mar dropped a high fly in the Students' outfield. The millmen salted the game away with a pair of counters in the ninth.

Students made a bid in the last of the ninth when Gary Taylor doubled and Toy Mar tripled. However, Ross bore down and retired the side though nicked for two runs.

Line score follows:
B.C. Forest Products 9-6-0 215-12 1
Chinese Students 6-9-0 205-12 1
Ross and King; McKay, Tenning (9) and Chew.

Complain Of Noise Made By Newsboys

Residents living near the Jackson and Tolmie Colonist sub-station and tired of awaiting action on their petition to City Council, submitted last February, that something be done to halt early-morning noise by newsboys.

Richard Jackson, 3168 Jackson Street, said in a letter to council he would like some action.

Coal tar is one of the most valuable raw materials of modern chemistry.

300 Bust Trusts For Uncle Sam

American businessmen do not have to "be afraid of Uncle Sam" so long as they resist any practice which would restrain domestic trade or foreign commerce, according to William C. Dixon, of Los Angeles, here today to address the Pacific Coast Paper Box Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Dixon, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General, Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice, said in an interview at the Empress Hotel he felt other countries could emulate the United States' anti-trust laws.

He is one of 300 lawyers whose job it is to prepare and bring to court cases against companies charged with price fixing, making exclusive dealing contracts and carrying on any practice which would restrain free enterprise and trade.

"The most common violation is price-fixing," Mr. Dixon said. "The more educated the businessman becomes regarding the laws and their application to his business, the more devious the device to evade. It becomes more difficult to detect it in operation."

In 1946, Mr. Dixon was on a joint state and war department mission to Japan whose aim was to break up the family trusts in that country. A handful of families dominated the entire Japanese economy, he said.

"Japan now has an anti-trust law stronger than our own." "The United States is the only country which has an act dealing directly with maintenance of the free enterprise system," Mr. Dixon said.

Although anti-trust laws, principally the Sherman Act, have been on the statutes for 61 years, it is in the past ten years, that most concentrated action has been taken, according to Mr. Dixon.

"There have been 1,100 cases in 61 years and more than 600 of them have been brought in the past ten years," he said. "There used to be 25 lawyers and now there are 300."

TROOPS GET COOL TREAT

TOKYO (AP)—It is hot and muggy but wounded Canadian soldiers in hospital in Korea have a cool treat coming.

They have been advised that the Vancouver women's auxiliary of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is sending over by plane 400 pounds of strawberries and ice cream, packed in dry ice.

The treat was donated by the Growers' Association of Mission, B.C., the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association and Canadian Pacific Air Lines.

TEEN-AGERS FACE GRAVE CHARGE

Bride Of 10 Days, Kidnapped, Attacked

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A 19-year-old bride of 10 days was abducted from her bed early today by two gunmen who, she told police, took her to a scenic spot 10 miles away and attacked her.

Mrs. James Hotchkiss said that after the alleged attacks she was driven back near her ground-floor apartment and dumped out of the car. Records indicate she is the daughter of a socially prominent Winnetka, Ill., family.

She was found by police, who had her taken to hospital where she told doctors each man had attacked her twice.

Less than an hour later police picked up John Robert Polk, 19, of Arlington, and William Robert Payne, 19, of Bethesda, Md. Both were charged with kidnapping.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

What lies ahead no one can know. We should be glad that this is so.

—Prickly Porky.

Prickly Porky the Porcupine, who carries a thousand little spears hidden in his coat and so is afraid of almost no one, was in the top of a tall tree near the edge of Paddy the Beaver's Pond. They have so many visitors day and night that sometimes they feel as if it is everybody's pond instead of their own.

Prickly Porky had been one of those visitors. He had dined on lily-pads growing in the water.

He doesn't like to travel any more than he has to. I suppose some folks would call him lazy. He seems to live for just two things, to eat and sleep. To have all he can eat with no real trouble in getting it, and to sleep whenever he feels like it, is Prickly Porky's idea of real happiness. He doesn't look happy. If you should meet him you probably would think him a very grumpy sort of person.

SLEEPS IN TREE

After eating all he could of those lily-pads Prickly Porky headed for the nearest tree. When he takes a nap he likes to take it up in a tree. The nearest tree was a big aspen. He never had climbed it before. He found it very much to his liking.

When Prickly Porky awoke and began to think about another meal he found it right at hand. There was the bark on the trunk and the limbs of the tree he was in. Also there were the tender outer twigs with their leaves. There might be other kinds of bark and twigs that he would like better, but these were good enough, and all he had to do was help himself.

The longer that he remained up in that tree the better he liked it. With plenty of food to be had for the taking, and one of the most comfortable places for sleeping, he had ever found, he also was where he could see all that went on around the pond of Paddy the Beaver.

He had a long nap

TREE GOES DOWN

So he ate and he slept and he slept and he ate, sometimes by day and sometimes by night and he was contented and happy. When the wind blew it often rocked him to sleep. He loved that. He loved to feel the big tree swaying back and forth. Late one afternoon, a little before the black shadows would come creeping through the forest, he was dozing when the tree swayed a little as if the merry little breezes were pushing it. There were no little breezes around, but Prickly Porky was too drowsy to notice this. The tree swayed a little more, and a little more, then suddenly it was falling down, down, down and it landed in the water with a tremendous splash. Before he really understood what was happening, Prickly Porky had an unexpected bath.

"As I understand it," says the boss of our house, "one of the big features of democracy is that it doesn't push you around. I read that somewhere, and I like it. Now we're a democracy. I keep reading that, too. But they're pushing me around, and I don't like it."

"Take these watering restrictions in Oak Bay," says the boss of our house. "I was watering every Monday, Wednesday and Friday since the honor system came in. Now they tell me, I have to water on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. On Saturdays I've got other things to do. I want to get up to the lake and I haven't time to do my watering. If it's left from Thursday to the following Tuesday there just isn't going to be any crop and the grass is going to burn up."

"WOULD LIKE THAT," wouldn't you?" says the boss of our house with a snort. "No lawns to cut and no peas to pick."

"Just the same, they're shoving me around because our house has old numbers. Why don't they change it every other year? That would be fairer than it is now."

"It isn't any help to read in the papers that up at Sooke Lake and at Goldstream we've got all the water we need for twice our population. I should take a bucket up and pack it in?"

"And I don't know that I'm so proud of the fact that my municipality's one of the best. If not the best, in Canada for financial rating. We have no debts and we have no water for the garden on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. What's the percentage?"

"MAYBE YOU COULD tell Mr. Musgrave that. Maybe you could tell the fella who call your Congressman that we might be a lot better off with a little debt and water. The municipality looks a bit naked without a little debt over it, anyhow. And having no water on Monday, Wednesday and Friday isn't doing my roses a bit of good."

"I'm not helping the vegetable garden, either. Even if the worms hadn't got to the greens, they'd have dried up anyhow. You go and tell Mr. Musgrave. Tell him we're taxpayers and that this is a democracy. We don't want to be pushed around, or if we have to be pushed, let 'em shove us the way we want to go."

"Just over the other side of Foul Bay Road," says the boss of our house, "they don't have watering restrictions. How come? The city seems to get all it needs with none of this Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday business. Aren't the members of our council smarter than those in the city? Isn't that why we have such a good financial rating? Isn't that why we don't pay as much taxes?"

"OR IS IT BECAUSE we just don't spend enough money? Why it's only a little while ago that I voted for a membership in the water district. Had to do it against the wishes of my reeve, too. He's all right, but he doesn't seem to realize what his water system is doing to my garden and my week-ends this summer."

"So you say to the boss of our house that Oak Bay is trying to get more water, that the municipality has joined the water board, that it's laying out money for a better distribution system, but you can't win."

"Listen," says the boss of our house, "we've been needing more water for a long time. This Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday routine isn't new. Why didn't they do something about it when they were busy fighting the city over rates, before the board took over?"

You try again and say that Oak Bay's grown a lot in recent years, that it isn't too easy to get pipe and work like that takes time.

"SURE, SURE," says the boss of our house, "so has the city grown. Is it any easier for it to get pipe? Can Victoria put it down any quicker? And do you see any notices in the paper telling city gardeners to go on a skip-a-day diet?"

You try another tack. This is an emergency. It's hot and dry. Everybody deserves a share of the water that's available. Even if you have to stay in a week-end or two during the summer, what's the odds?

"Fine," says the boss of our house. "We have a shack up at the lake. It's not much of a shack, that's true, but it's good enough for the summer time. That's the only time it is good. So I should stay in week-ends and wait until the rainy season starts. Then, I can go up to the shack. Fine, fine, oh fine."

And you can't bury your head in a two-bit western story and pretend the boss of our house isn't arguing. In the western, they're fighting about water for the grasslands, too.

Tsehart Cannibal Dance—the male dancer is encircled and placated by women.

Island Tribe Revives Indian Songs, Dances

Indian songs and dances hark back to the misty past and are being revived by the Tsehart Tribe, Alberni, Wilson Duff, Provincial Museum anthropologist, who recently returned from a visit to the native reservation, disclosed today.

The anthropologist, accompanied by Dr. Clifford Carl, museum director, took colored movies of the dances which took two hours to perform in the Indian reservation. The tribe, famous as whale hunters, plan to perform the dances publicly.

"The sudden interest of the tribe in their dancing may lead to a general revival of Indian folklore among the West Coast Indians," Mr. Duff said. "Indians are beginning to realize that they have a rich and colorful culture."

Mr. Duff said the songs and dances being revived were on the verge of being forgotten and were saved from being lost just in time by the younger members of the tribe. The older members of the tribe were reluctant at first to give any information about the old dances and folk songs.

The anthropologist expressed the hope that the tribe would be able to come to Victoria some day to stage a concert of their dances and songs which he described as "authentic and fascinating."

"One Indian woman was employed full time making cedar skirts for the dancers."

Wardens Ask More Radios For Firemen

City Council will be asked to approve Fire Chief R. T. Brindle's request for four more two-way radio sets for fire trucks at a cost of $675 each, plus freight.

The fire wardens' committee Monday voted to recommend to council the request be granted—but only after Ald. Aubrey Kent had quizzed Chief Brindle in detail as to whether the cost of the additional sets would be justified by the number of times they would be used.

Ald. Kent feared the sets might be obsolete in a few years, and said he thought that the present radios in chief's and deputies' cars, and on the ladder truck, were sufficient.

He voted in favor of the recommendation, however, when the chief insisted it was a necessity. The alderman agreed radios would be needed on all fire department units in case of a civil defense emergency.

Sets for which purchase approval is sought will be reconditioned demonstration models, since the manufacturers, informed G. F. Sharpe, purchasing agent, nearly all their new equipment is going to the R.C.A.F.

SEAMEN VOTE SECOND TIME AT WEEK-END

Donald O'Reilly, business agent here for the Seafarer's International Union, said today that he has received no specific information from Vancouver concerning the distribution of ballots among the 800 seamen affected in the prolonged negotiations with three Canadian coast steamship companies.

It is understood that the ballots, together with an outline of the third offer made by the companies, are now being printed at the mainland and will be circulated at the week-end.

The vote, second within a fortnight, is expected to take a week to 10 days to complete.

U.S. Paper Box Makers Irked At Price Order

Price control is a big problem facing United States paper box manufacturers who are hoping they will not have to operate under a general order going into effect July 2, Douglas T. Neale, president of the National Paper Box Manufacturing Association, told a convention group at the Empress Hotel today.

Addressing the 36th meeting of the Pacific Coast association, Mr. Neale added that government orders are more irksome than any material shortages.

Mr. Neale, who is also on the executive of the Folding Paper Box Association, with headquarters in Chicago, disclosed that the industry has agreed on a new proposed order and "negotiations are under way with the government" in an effort to have it approved.

Blackstock Readies Drunkometer Data

Expected To Give Opinions On It To Police Commission Tomorrow

Use of a drunkometer in drunken driving cases had the approval today of Victoria Police Chief John Blackstock "without reservations."

"I would like to see it used in higher courts," Chief Blackstock said, "and brought into use gradually. It is impossible to buy a machine today and start using it tomorrow."

Planned amendments to the Criminal Code would legalize evidence resulting from chemical tests for drunkenness.

Chief Blackstock said that before giving final approval to use of such evidence he would like to see more drunkometers thoroughly tested. The drunkometer, he said, is a breathing device, which he prefers to slower blood testing. He recently saw one exhibited in Vancouver.

The drunkometer is being widely used in the U.S. today with apparent success, he said. In some centres, he declared, about five per cent of drivers charged refused to submit to the test.

"I have seen both successful and unsuccessful tests made of drunkometers," he said. "We should know whether the machines or the operators were at fault before we do anything about it here."

It is expected Chief Blackstock will give an opinion on drunkometers at a meeting of the city police commission Wednesday at 2.

The good word is being spread throughout the country, too," he added.

It was learned at the same time from public works officials that in the past five years expenditure on the Island Highway has grown to $5,795,642.

Of this amount $4,223,728 had been spent on reconstruction and paving, the remainder on construction of 16 new bridges and overhead crossings.

In the five years reconstruction and paving has been carried out over 33 miles of the highway—at Niagara Creek on the Malahat, Mill Bay, Duncan-Lady Smith, Diamond Crossing-Bush Creek, Langville - Qualicum, Bowser-Cook Creek, Fanny Bay-Union Bay and Sandwick.

Further work is planned.

Arthur Harris, 12 Ontario Street, was fined $35 and had his driver's license suspended pending a report from the motor vehicle branch when he pleaded guilty to careless driving June 16 on Superior Street.

Case of Ernest E. Dunstan, 717 Pembroke Street, charged with careless driving June 16, was remanded to July 4. Plea of not guilty was entered for Dunstan by counsel, James J. Proudfoot.

John Lindsay Lawford, 1122 View Street, was fined $25 for failure to submit a report to police within 24 hours of an accident. Charge arose out of a car-bicycle collision at Government and Bay Streets April 24.

Pleading guilty to a charge of making false statements to police June 17 about a suspected car theft, Keith L. Douglas, 3121 Yew Street, was remanded to Wednesday morning for sentence.

TOURISTS RAP CINDER, SMOKE NUISANCE HERE

Victoria's smoke and cinder nuisance even has the tourists complaining, J. A. McIntyre, manager of the Windsor Motor Court and Motel on Gorge Road said today.

"It's another Pittsburgh, is a comment I've heard twice today," he declared, adding: "Someone else said Victoria was just like Chicago."

His guests are constantly complaining, Mr. McIntyre said, adding that the smoke and cinder nuisance has been worse not better over the past two weeks, despite the City Hall conference with a smoke expert and mill men.

"Tourists may go to other cities," he said. "Their clothes are being ruined. A woman stepped into her convertible car and her white linen suit was covered with soot and cinders."

Big Rainmaker 'Fee' Staggers Reeve Casey

"Phew!" whistled Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey. "I'd rather see an irrigation system than pay that bill!"

This was one reaction today to the week-end offer of a professional U.S. rainmaker, who said he would try and relieve Saanich's three-months drought for "about $30,000 for the season."

Saanich farmers fear their crop losses may run to several hundred thousand dollars this summer if rain does not come soon.

Irving T. Krick, director of the Water Resources Development Corporation in the State of Washington, was the man willing to seed clouds and make rain if the Saanich farmers will organize themselves and pay the fee.

At the same time, meteorological experts warned that making rain by artificial means for Saanich might lead to civil suits between various groups of farmers.

"If rain would have normally fallen in Sooke is made to drop in Saanich, or vice-versa, there might be grounds for damages suits by those who have been deprived of rain by an 'act of God,'" said one rain expert.

Meanwhile, Dr. Francis W. Reichelderfer, U.S. weather bureau chief, told the Victoria Daily Times a few more facts and threw some cold water on theories that large rainstorms can be made.

Responding to questions posed to him, he said even if a very large cloud gives up all its moisture the rain that results "is hardly enough to moisten the ground at times."

"There is no doubt that dumping dry ice or silver iodide into certain kinds of clouds causes rain," he added. "But it is quite a different matter to get up the large-scale circulation of air and the inflow and ascent of water vapor into the cloud which is necessary to produce showers or rain in appreciable quantities."

And it has not been proved, he went on, that seeding a cloud had the "trigger action" to start a real storm.

One of the founding members of the Women's Institute at Sidney, Mrs. Deacon was an ardent gardener and member of the horticultural society. For 17 consecutive years she had donated a weekly basket of flowers to the Rest Haven hospital.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Alan, and granddaughter Joy of Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. E. A. Grant, Seattle, and Mrs. R. Hampton, Vancouver.

The roller finally crashed into a Safeway store, causing minor damage.

Famous English Cottages
In Miniature Pottery Form
By PENNY SAVER

Not going to the Festival of Britain, you say? By gosh, neither am I. But I am going to see some of England's celebrated landmarks!

Raleigh's cottage, at Haynes Barton, near Budeigh, Salterton, or Shelley's cottage at Lynmouth, North Devon, for instance!

ThriftyNifty

Remember: Clean winter clothes before storing.

No, I'm not going to take a quick jet to points overseas. I'm going to buy some of the delightful pottery new in from England.

The miniature cottages with their straw-gold roofs and cottage brown exteriors are perfect for the tourist—or the collector, and, my dears, only 50 pennies to buy.

Next time you're in town and have a spare minute take a peek at the little cottages.

Spotted, what I thought to be, very good looking linen place mats. Closer investigation proved differently, though.

Our old friend plastic has even found its way to the counters of fine linens and cottons. Practical to the word go, for the mats can be sponged off after being used. No ironing these little fellows.

Measuring about 12 by 18 inches the heatproof mats are created in the linen finish with applied flowers at each corner, and others in rope-like matting.

The color range is a joy to behold! From every shade of green, red, blue to browns, beige and lime, grey and white. For the mats, $1 each, and for matching leaf pattern coasters, a box of eight for $1.25.

A shower gift suggestion? You're darn tootin'!

Guess you've thought about this before now, but in terms of household hints have you ever tried using a shoe bag for double duty. That is, as a holder of shoes and the jars or tins of polish? Space saving, what?

A wire and cotton mesh mitt is the latest addition to the scullery maid's accessories, not for her Sunday-go-to-meeting ensemble, but for the washing of the dishes.

The mitt is the perfect helper, particularly if dishes have been left stand and are difficult to deal with in their somewhat grubby state. The mesh glove is gentle but firm with hardened foot particles which stick fast to their grounds. For all this good help you'll pay 19 pennies.

MARY HAWORTH

After Enduring Mother-In-Law's Carping For Years, Woman Suddenly Finds It Unbearable

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: After 10 years of marriage, I have a mother-in-law problem—not a new development, just a cumulative one that suddenly seems unbearable.

I have a nice husband, a fine home and three wonderful children. The first year of marriage was difficult; we had little money, were very young, had our first baby, and to cap the climax, Joe was unfaithful. His mother insisted that I should divorce him at once if I hoped to save my self respect. But my mother urged me to take stock of myself to see where I had failed; and from force of habit I took her advice, and reached the conclusion that I was half to blame. So we made a new start, weathered three years' separation during the war, gained some maturity, and things looked rosy until recently.

My mother-in-law was widowed when her four children were small. She worked hard to support them and deserves great credit; but she had no outside interests, in fact refused to have any, and wrapped herself around her children—especially the youngest, and two others are hostile to her interference. She wants to know every detail of her darlings' lives, and her probing is so foolish that I shouldn't be annoyed, but every now and then I long to tell her to mind her own business. But what really gets me down is her effort to undermine my marriage. She has already broken up one son's home and another is tottering.

Joe's work keeps him away from home during the week, and in this period his mother keeps up a feverish correspondence, detailing my faults, meanwhile ignoring the children and me. But on week-ends when he is here, the telephone is kept busy with his mother calling to ask is he up, has he gone downtown yet, why hasn't he been over, etc.; and at times Joe gets furious and snaps back. Then she bemoans her lonely lot until he relents, and we're off again. He doesn't take her seriously and would be amazed to think I do, as I've always been considerate of her, and in fact she never got on my nerves until recently. G.B.

WIFE'S REBELLION
SIGNIFIES GROWTH

DEAR G.B.: You say "force of habit" caused you to fall in with your mother's chastening counsel, when you stood at a crossroad in the first year of marriage. This is a significant slip of the tongue. It indicates that you were long conditioned to follow a course of conformity, a pattern of least resistance, in dealing with maternal views, or maternal supervision.

Wedding
Setting

Recently, at an attractive ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Charlotte Gwendoline Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mason, Sims Avenue, became the bride of Lawrence Frederick Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lewis, Kings Road. Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiated.

Orange blossoms decorated the church, and Frank York sang "Because."

Mr. Mason gave his daughter in marriage. She was gowned in white satin accented with sheer net yoke framed with seed pearls. Colonial-styled skirt was arranged over hoops which raised the hemline to reveal rows of lace. Her shoulder-length veil of sheer net was caught in a beaded headress of pearls and rhinestones to match a rhinestone necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. Her cascade bouquet was red roses and white carnations.

Miss Mary Norback, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a mauve gown with individual white embroidered flowers on the overskirt. Miss Dorothy Lewis, sister of the groom, bridesmaid, was in pale pink sheer nylon net. Little flower girl, Carolyn Hansen, wore a yellow net frock and carried a Colonial bouquet.

The groom chose his brother, Denis Lewis as best man. Arnold Mason, brother of the bride, and Alex Park, were ushers. Newlyweds received guests under an arch of white and red roses at 804 Kings Road. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table which was decorated with vases of red roses. E. P. P. Lewis proposed a toast to the bride and Fred Pitts provided music. Pipe-Major A. Pollock, 1st C.S.R., piped the bride and groom into the reception hall.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon upland Mrs. Lewis donned a red dressmaker suit with navy blue accessories.

Native Daughters Hear
Talk On B.C. At Banquet

History of British Columbia with emphasis on the pioneers and their struggle for survival, was discussed by Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, in an address to the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3 banquet at K. of P. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ireland were honor guests with the Native Sons, their families and friends. The archivist spoke of the four murals by G. Southwell, painted on the walls of the rotunda at the Parliament Buildings, which symbolize courage, enterprise, labor and justice in early British Columbia.

"Those inherent qualities were the strong foundation of the early colony," he said.

Mr. Ireland told the gathering he felt strongly that the early pioneers did not ask to be placed on the pedestal of worship. They could, however, be said, rightly expect the present generation to revere their work and maintain the high standards of qualities portrayed by Mr. Southwell in his murals toward advancement of British Columbia and the community today.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What You Girls Eat Now
Will Affect Future Health

Teenagers should learn that the food they eat during the years of rapid physical development and growing up is terribly important to them. Their future health and beauty depend, to a great extent, on the food they eat between the ages of 12 and 18. Actually few young women and men reach full physical maturity until around the age of 22.

Teenagers require much more food than an adult of the same size, yet at this very time many young girls are so conscious of the wish for a lovely figure that they cut down on vital essential foods as they try to diet without direction and ruin their health and their looks.

Every teenager should have a quart of milk a day, an egg a day, or at least five a week, one or two helpings of meat, fish or fowl, two vegetables beside potatoes, and one of them should be leafy or yellow, four to six slices of whole wheat bread, some whole wheat cereal, some fresh fruit and a glass of orange or tomato juice or the equivalent in oranges.

The potato is a fine source of starch and energy, and if you like them and add a little butter, they are not fattening. You also need some butter or enriched margarine but you do not need to go too strong.

Most teenagers are hungry all of the time. Instead of filling up between meals or before bedtime with the foods they need, they are likely to "go for" highly concentrated sweets, often to the extent of being unable to eat the foods they get at regular meals.

To mothers: Your daughter or son is going to eat between meals because she or he will need that extra energy and because she or he will be hungry. You can greatly improve the nutrition of your child if you will received guests under an arch decorated in yellow and green with roses entwined. Bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with yellow roses.

Thomas Atkinson proposed toast to the bride. Leaving for a honeymoon at Yellow Point Lodge, Mrs. Smith wore a dressmaker suit of sapphire blue gabardine with pale peach blouse, navy blue straw cloche trimmed with flowers, snakeskin shoes and purse complemented with a gardenia corsage bouquet.

Tea Marks
25th Year

Twenty-fifth anniversary of Garden City Woman's Auxiliary was celebrated with a tea at which Mrs. Bertha Parsons of Metropolitan United Church W.A., was guest speaker.

The president, Mrs. R. Young, received guests and corsage bouquets of roses were presented to four members with 20 years or more service, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. Ward and Miss A. Brown.

A musical program included solos by Mrs. E. Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. D. Nagy.

Tea was served from a table centred with a bouquet of roses, the two senior members, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones, presiding at the urns.

Mrs. E. Ricalton was general convener, assisted by Mrs. R. Young, Mrs. A. P. Fryatt and Mrs. Newton.

keep a variety of fresh fruits, cookies which combine health (oatmeal, for instance), peanut butter and bread, lemonade (sweetened with saccharine if the girl is overweight), and other such items conveniently at hand.

If your daughter is overweight, she should leave off the very high calorie foods, but have a plentiful amount, three times a day, of the essential foods. Amounts may have to be limited if a loss of weight is desired but the loss in weight should never go beyond two and a half pounds a week; two is even better.

In order to assuage her sweet tooth a few small pieces of hard candy can be allowed after dinner.

Teenagers, you are building your future health, lovely skin and shining hair, now. Get all of those things you need in your diet, plenty of proteins, minerals and vitamins. Be guided in your reducing by your mother and your physician. Do not try to do it by yourself.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 58, "Popularity," planned especially for teenagers, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Quick and tasty
dishes!

Chateau Omelet... Take an omelet (light and fluffy, please) and give it a heart of yellow mild Chateau Cheese. The filling's a snap! Just cut up a half-pound package of Chateau, melt it in top of double boiler (it melts as easily as it slices or spreads). Then blend in a half cup of milk. Chateau adds taste-tempting goodness and protein nourishment to any meal.

Chateau-Burgers... Broil thin hamburgers a few seconds on each side. Slide into split buns. Top with slices of Borden's Chateau and pop under the broiler. Serve immediately. Get the handy half-pound package. Since Chateau is not a sliced cheese you don't have to expose the whole package for one slice. It stays covered, stays fresh.

Young Visitors Are Happy

While their parents enjoy business sessions and social affairs arranged for the 36th annual convention of Pacific Coast Box Manufacturers' Association, children who accompanied them to this city have been placed in charge of Mrs. W. W. McGill of Victoria Garden Library. "Paddy," life-size model of a white horse in the garden library gardens, has been a source of fun for Richard and Tommy Miller, Los Angeles; Jill Mackie, Portland; and Pat Shockey, San Francisco, left to right.

"Wonderful One-Horse Shay" to which Paddy is harnessed interests another group of visitors, Lynn O'Leary, Charles and Danny Miller, Los Angeles; Susan Mackie, Portland; Peter Reed, Palo Alto; Charles Shockey, San Francisco, and Tim Wheeler, San Carlos, Calif. The garden library opens its summer term on July 4, the theme, "My Neighbor Who Needs Me." Theme of the mothers' group, under Mrs. Edna Powell, will be "Building Happy Homes."

Wedding Of Interest In Ontario

Mount Hope, Ont., where the groom's parents make their home, and this city shared interest in the marriage of former Miss Lorna Jean Webb, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Webb, Davie Street, Victoria, and P.O. Donald Trask, elder son of Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Trask. The new Mr. and Mrs. Trask will make their home in the eastern province. (Photo by Jones.)

Talented Young Victorians Stars Of Dance Review

Jet black kittens bounced and pranced through a dance routine against a background of a summer white fence, completely captivating the audience in Royal Theatre last evening in the first number of the artistically balanced program in Wynne Shaw's review, "Spring Time Is Dance Time."

Talented young soloists were Brenda Lister, Jacqueline Iving, Shirley Green and Rae Evenden. Hop scotch kittens with brilliant turtan ribbons tied about their necks were Maureen Hemmings, Diane Bruce, Marion Davies, Pamela Reid, Donna Hunt, Donna Blatchford, Judy Bell, Esther Lott, Judy Floyd, Sandra Begg, Doreen Logan, Betty Lou Greenwood, Lynne Bell and Bonnie Jones. Gallop kittens were Kristen Goodmanson, Karen Robinson, Lynne McConnell, Judy Kirkby, Sandra Carran, Elaine Edgall, Judy Fraser, Joyce Bates, Susan McMicking, Linda Graves, Joy Barker, Georgina Hiscock, Joyce Murrant, David Eves, Carol Dumbleton.

As a carefree little girl Rae Evenden danced with Jeanie Burns, costumed as a little grey donkey, followed by a ballet by kittens, Nicci Lucas, Lynne Stevenson, Ann Love, Linda O'Connor, Heather Lawson, Elenore Gilestin, Barbara Fulton, Patsy Gannet, Gillian Smith, Joy Ross, Elinor Smith, Diosa Young, Patricia Davies, Barbara Ross and Penny Espley.

Outstanding solo presentations were given by Rae Evenden in the Mazurka from Swan Lake; Victor Duret, young ballet dancer who has been a scholarship student at Seattle's Cornish School of Allied Arts in "Rigadoon," a dance arranged by Karen Irving; acrobatics by little Diane Limon, who performed her routine on a large drum; Beverly Iving and Jacqueline Iving.

Stage managers for the performance were Dolly Jones, also responsible for effective scenery, and Reg Bullock. Miriam Bartlett was the pianist.

Visitors To Be Received At Government House Party

Social affairs planned to highlight business sessions of the 36th annual convention of Pacific Coast Box Manufacturers' Association will culminate tomorrow afternoon when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace entertain 140 delegates and their wives at a reception at Government House.

Today, the delegates, their wives and families enjoyed a cruise among the gulf islands aboard the Princess Elizabeth, followed by a cocktail party at the Empress Hotel. This evening the president's ball is being held in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress.

Tomorrow morning, for wives of delegates, a putting contest has been arranged on the lawn at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. R. L. Challoner, wife of the Victoria president, has been in charge of arrangements for various social gatherings, assisted by Mrs. Louis Glazen and Mrs. J. A. Craig, Victoria, and Mrs. H. W. Smithson and Mrs. J. McDougall, Vancouver.

Mrs. Clarence Wallace A Luncheon Hostess

Today, Mrs. Clarence Wallace was hostess at the last of her series of June luncheons at Government House. Covers were laid for 26.

On Thursday, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Ruth MacLean, will be guests at a luncheon which Mrs. R. W. Gibson is giving at her home on York Place.

Saturday, Mrs. Wallace will present prizes at the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' meeting at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Young Viscount A Visitor

John Mark Alexander, fourth Viscount Colville of Culross, and Baron Clydesmuir, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. H. R. Gale, at "Bardey," Saanichton.

The 18-year-old viscount, who was born in Saanich but grew up at his father's ancestral home in Scotland, made his first appearance in capital city society last Saturday afternoon as an usher at the Penn-Bridgman wedding at St. Luke's Church.

Viscount Colville was born in July, 1933, when his parents were living at Point Colville on Saanich Inlet. His father was killed in a flying accident when on active service in the Azores in 1945 and as eldest son he succeeded to the ancient title, created in 1604.

High Tea For Visitors

Mrs. George C. Mackie and Mrs. James N. Mills, wives of the president and executive secretary respectively, with Mrs. J. N. Mills and Mrs. J. McDougall of Vancouver, presided at the tea table, Sunday afternoon in the Empress Hotel, at opening party of the annual convention of Pacific Coast Paper Box Manufacturers' Association.

British Columbia members and their affiliates were hosts for the affair, which took the form of a high tea. Mrs. Louis Glazen and Mrs. R. L. Challoner assisted at the tea table.

Capt. Foster and five members of Victoria Girls' Drill Team, in costume, assisted in introducing the 135 guests, among whom were Mayor Percy E. George and Mrs. George.

Parties For Bride-Elect

To honor Miss Eileen Orr, whose marriage takes place this month, her future mother-in-law, Mrs. A. Richards, and her two daughters, Mrs. J. Danielson and Miss Carol Richards, entertained at a shower recently.

Guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink miniature roses. Her mother, Mrs. F. E. Orr, received pink carnations and Mrs. Richards was presented with red roses.

Clues in balloons led Miss Orr to her gifts.

A pink-tinted bride's cake topped with miniature bride and groom centred the refreshment table.

Guests included Mesdames P. Veale, A. Renfrew, P. Wills, S. Hinde, R. Billester, G. Larson, H. Allen, J. Henderson, J. R. Rowell, C. Eno, V. Atcheson, N. Duckworth, C. Calbeck, D. Phillips, Misses G. Veale, D. Veale and F. Atcheson.

Recently Mrs. Danielson entertained in honor of the bride-elect at a trossure tea in her Service Street home. Twenty-two friends of the bride were present.

Vacationing At Genoa Bay

Holidaying recently at Genoa Bay Lodge from Victoria were Mr. and Mrs. T. McMartin and Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Amyot. Also guests at the lodge have been Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Patterson Jr. of Seattle; Mrs. H. F. Liggins and Miss Pat Liggins, Mrs. T. Nichols, Miss J. Nichols and Miss L. Tierney, Vancouver.

Guests at the lodge last week-end were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Norrington, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bayliss, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Rowbotham, Mr. and Mrs. K. Bostock, Mr. and Mrs. P. Walton, Miss Nancy Ferguson, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gubeiman from Connecticut; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Payne, Duncan; P. McAllister and V. Dowell, Chemainus.

Aboard the Tahuna and just returned from Mexico were Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams; just returned from Los Angeles were Mr. and Mrs. H. Irwin; aboard Windsong II were R. Harrison, J. Murdoch and M. Gordon; Mr. and Mrs. E. Mould entertained friends on the Nifty Girl.

Mr. W. G. Whitfield, ocean travel manager of Cooks Tours, Glasgow, Scotland and Mrs. Whitfield are spending the summer months with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McIntyre, 3834 Ascot Drive, Victoria.

Out-of-town guests attending the recent marriage of Muriel Vera Curtis to Richard Fraser Smith were Mr. and Mrs. A. Grant, Miss Peggy Grant, Mr. A. Murphy, Vancouver; Miss Ann Olson, Chilliwack; Mr. and Mrs. A. Kerley and Rickie, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Ladysmith; Mr. and Mrs. C. Whyte, Campbell River, and Mrs. T. N. Hibben, Tacoma.

Mrs. H. J. Fisher of this city is at present a guest at Island Hall Hotel, Parksville. Other Victorians vacationing there are Mrs. W. Hemmingson and children, Mrs. T. F. Rose, W. J. Davis and W. Stamford. Expected to arrive during the present week are: Mr. and Mrs. B. Fuller, Miss Patricia Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Swan and Mr. Brown-Cave.

Miss Eula Jacobson and Miss Marnie Williams, members of Greater Victoria schools staff, are leaving early in July for the British Isles, on exchange for the next year. Miss Jacobson will go to Scotland and Miss Williams to Newcastle, Eng.

Cambridge Friend Composes Wedding Music For Former Rosemary Bridgman

To the strains of a special procession composed by Miss Jean Nicholas, a friend of the bride at Cambridge, England, Miss Rosemary Maud Weaver Bridgman walked up the aisle of St. Luke's Church Saturday afternoon on the arm of her father, to become the bride of Michael John William Penn.

Choir of Queen Margaret's School, Duncan, wearing crimson cassocks, offered a striking contrast to the summer-toned gowns of the bridal entourage. Eric Edwards played traditional wedding music.

Canon Frederic Pike heard nuptial vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Montague A. W. Bridgman, Christmas Hill, North Quadra, and the son of Rev. A. R. Penn, and Mrs. Penn, "The Rectory," King's Stanley, near Stonehouse, Gloucestershire, England.

The bride created a radiant picture in her wedding gown of rich ivory brocade sprigged with a gold leaf design and styled with Medici collar and skirt slightly en train. An heirloom veil of exquisite Brussels lace, belonging to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Mortimer Drummond, highlighted the wedding gown.

It fell from the shoulders to sweep into a train held by her young sister, Miss Heather Bridgman, as flower girl, A. chapel veil of net caught to the head with swainsons was complemented by a bridal bouquet of talisman roses and swainsons.

Adding to the bridal scene were attendants Miss Gillian Bridgman, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Miss Nancy Grant and Miss Catriona Gillespie, both cousins of the bride, Miss Gillian Scott-Moncrieff, bridesmaids, and Alasdair Scott-Moncrieff, page.

Senior attendants were gownned in turquoise crepe styled with rolled hemline. They wore half-flower wreaths in their hair and carried bouquets of deep pink gladioli and white sweet peas.

Flower girl's frock was pale blue mesh over turquoise crepe. The page was dressed in an Ancient Stuart kilt.

The groom chose Dr. Andrew Gillespie, cousin of the bride, as best man. Ushering were Peter Jones, Vancouver; Lieut. Paul McCulloch, Viscount Colville, Nigel Scott-Moncrieff and David Privett.

Kyrle Symons proposed the toast to the bride at a reception

"People have been saying the oddest things about you, Amelia. And now that you're back, and they know where you've been

... and know about Miss Merri-dew and Lieutenant Braid, too ... well, you don't think that sort of thing is good for your father, do you?"

"He hasn't worried about it, Mama."

"It's more painful for him than you realize! And how terrible for us if that court martial brings in a verdict of 'guilty' today."

"Terrible for us—or for Mr. Braid?"

"It couldn't happen at a worse time! Just when the town's attention is focussed upon us because of your departure for China."

"My departure's been foreseen for a long time, Mama. They didn't get excited or talkative about it before—not until the baggage went down to the ship yesterday."

"That's a hard sentiment, Amelia."

"I face the facts."

Amelia watched her step-mother fussily but deliberately arranging flowers in a deep green vase, the biggest in the drawing room. Yes, she reflected. She had been hard. How was it—even within a few hours of saying goodbye to Mama—that she could be so unfeeling? At any rate she should be gentle now. She would be kind.

Mrs. Murray went on working over the white lilacs, hovering above them as she did so. She felt that they made a touching and fitting frame for this final martyrdom. The more she thought about it the sadder she became, until she was almost in tears at the thought of how pitiful she must look. With a hard-hearted stepdaughter sitting opposite, looking so perfectly composed after damaging the family name in the Cariboo. (How much easier to bear if she had chosen to indulge in such a whim in somewhere more fashionable, like California!)

But Amelia was going at last. After all the waiting and the postponements Amelia was going. She would be left alone to cope with children.

"My poor children!" sighed Mrs. Murray, letting a tear fall languidly among the lilacs.

BISHOP CENSURED

Toronto Parishioners Back Replaced Rector

TORONTO (CP)—Some 350 parishioners of Toronto's east-end St. Barnabas Anglican Church passed resolutions Monday night censuring the Bishop of Toronto and setting forth their refusal to accept any other clergyman to replace their rector, Rev. H. W. Garbutt.

The church members, at a vestry meeting, passed 14 resolutions in an effort to end an eight-year-old dispute which has raged within the church.

You must feel like a new person—or we PAY DOUBLE THE COST.

1943 with the appointment of Mr. Garbutt, centres around objections by several parishioners to the firing of a curate for "improper conduct," the resignation of another when asked to do some unspecified church work and the refusal of people's warden William Funk to resign.

Two Toronto diocese church committees have tried to settle the matter. The second is expected to return a report in August.

At Monday night's meeting the parishioners passed a vote of censure against Bishop A. R. Beverley for his treatment of Mr. Garbutt. They said his action was "most un-British and would shock the world if it came from inside Russia."

Last week Mrs. Garbutt said the bishop was trying to get the rector to resign because he was "too strong-minded spiritually for a metropolitan parish."

A second vote criticized the bishop for "supporting the behavior of Rev. Harry Donaldson," who was dismissed by Mr. Garbutt in 1944.

The rector declined to speak at the meeting. Earlier he said he disapproved of the congregation taking the dispute into their own hands.

Mr. Funk, the people's warden who parishioners say has repeatedly refused to resign, was dismissed for failing to perform his duties when asked to dismiss the church organist.

William Douglas was elected peoples' warden to succeed Mr. Funk.

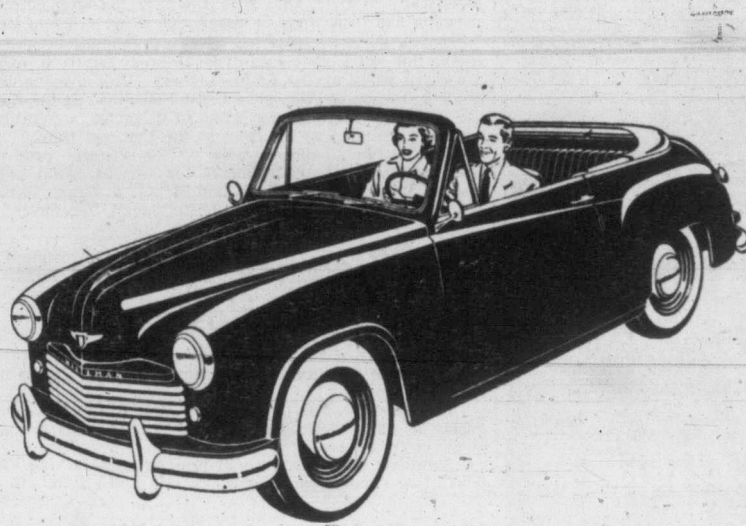

ORATORIO POEM
An oratorio is a dramatic text or poem, usually on a Scripture theme, set to music. The music consists of recitatives, arias, duets, trios, quartets and choruses, accompanied by instruments, but no action, scenery or costumes.

WIFE MOANS AS HUBBY BUYS HEDY LAMARR'S PLUSH COUCH

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A beaming aircraft parts manufacturer, who bought Hedy Lamarr's rose velvet bed for $250 at an auction, said today it'll take him "days to get out of the dog house with my wife."

H. S. "Monty" Moncrieff, 40, outbid 500 curious spectators at kick-off for the sultry movie queen's $1,000,000 auction of her "intimate effects."

"How dumb can you get?" boomed wife Mildred. Moncrieff insisted he is "not a Hedy Lamarr" fan, but he posed willingly on the luxurious pink-tufted velvet for photographers. He even bounced a little.

"Honestly, Monty," the missus shrugged helplessly, "sometimes I wonder if you got a brain at all."

Prepare To Re-Open Famed Canteen In Movie Capital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Hollywood Canteen, which entertained 3,000,000 U.S. servicemen in the Second World War, is gearing up for the new war.

Carey Wilson, one of the three guiding forces of the canteen, has signalled his volunteer workers to be ready to start operations on Labor Day or thereafter.

"At first I told them to be ready July 4 or thereafter," he said. "But after a survey of the entire situation, I discovered that there were not enough servicemen visiting this area."

The new canteen he said, will be able to handle twice as many servicemen as the old one—1,000 at a time.

The canteen organization has bought control of the Florentine Gardens a defunct night club on Hollywood Boulevard.

"The money came from percentages of two pictures, 'Stage Door Canteen' and 'Hollywood Canteen,'" Wilson said.

BRIDGE LESSON by Oswald Jacoby

If you were naming the best players in the country you'd have to include Alvin Landy on your list. Strangely enough, Landy is so busy directing tournaments that he practically never gets a chance to play the game.

He found a chance to play, however, on a recent trip to the nation's capital, where he had ace promptly. A finesse allows East to win and return a heart. Then the hearts become established while West still has the king of clubs as an entry.

After taking the second trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, Landy led the jack of clubs for a finesse. West took the king and led his remaining diamond to East's king. East then returned a heart, but the party was over. Landy could take the ace of hearts and run the rest of the tricks, making his contract with an overtrick.

Incidentally, Landy says that this year's national tournament will be bigger and better than ever. If brilliant remarks and heated debates are heard in Washington during the first week of August, both political parties can relax. It will just be part of the annual bridge battle for the national championship.

gone to arrange the national tournament, scheduled there for August. One of the hands he played in Washington is shown today.

Landy refused the first heart trick, thus forcing West to abandon the suit. If West leads a second heart, declarer has two tricks in the suit instead of only one. If South takes the first heart, he dare not lose a trick to East, for then a heart return will ruin him.

West shifted to the eight of diamonds, and Landy made his second fine play by putting up the

Demand For B.C. Lumber On Decline

By DAVID STOCK

After several years of booming business, B.C. lumbermen are finding that things are beginning to tighten up; that no longer is there a waiting customer for every stick that comes out of the woods.

Cedar seems to be the weak link in the lumber industry's chain.

While a decline in cedar sales was first noticeable about eight weeks ago, the situation today, according to the Schultz Timber Bulletin, is that there are no buyers for shingle or lumber logs.

A large inventory of unsold cedar is piling up on the Vancouver market and already some price reductions have been made.

According to local lumber industry spokesmen, the big U.S. market has virtually dried up so far as cedar is concerned, and there seems to be no prospect of a new market opening.

The American home-building program was in constant call for B.C. cedar siding and B.C. shingles. Because of defense work, this type of building now is curtailed by U.S. federal government control measures.

Along with cedar, other low grades of lumber are also piling up because of no orders. One B.C. operator reported some of these grades have dropped as much as $8 a thousand.

While fir, hemlock and balsam log stocks are also reported to be increased, the sale of these woods is still good. While, again, U.S. demand has declined to some extent, the decline at least has been offset by the recent United Kingdom contract for 600,000 board feet.

Just back from an extended trip to Toronto and Montreal, Peter Bell, vice-president of the Victoria investment firm of H. A. Humber Ltd., was more than impressed by the wide scope of exhibits he viewed when he spent a day at the Canadian International Trade Fair.

"It was really an eye-opener," he reports. "I went out one morning at 11 o'clock and stayed until 6. Even then, I didn't get to see all the exhibits."

"One building covered more than 17½ acres and there were more than 2,000 exhibit stalls in that building alone."

One feature which had wide appeal to most spectators, Mr. Bell reported, was a real Tudor-style English tavern, moved in its entirety from an Old Country village. The inn was complete with English barmaids.

Another phase of his journey east which Mr. Bell is eager to discuss with investors is a trip he made to the main plant of Canada Crushed and Cut Stone Limited.

He has arranged for Humber's to be exclusive agent on Vancouver Island for C.C. and C.S. general mortgage sinking fund debentures, to bear 5½ per cent interest.

Brewery Directors Make New Proposal

TORONTO (CP)—Directors of Canadian Breweries Ltd., approved Monday a revised offer to preferred and common shareholders of National Breweries Ltd.

The revised offer raises the proposed price for National preferred shares by $15 a share, from $35 to $50, along with the right of investing the proceeds in the common shares of Canadian Breweries at $20 a share. Holders of common shares will be offered a share-for-share exchange of National stock for Canadian Breweries stock.

Chamber Congress Would Free World Currencies

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's leader at the International Chamber of Commerce Congress in Lisbon said today the consensus of delegates seemed to be that "free exchange of currencies, combined with lower tariff and reasonable customs valuation policies, is the key to a further expansion in world trade and rising standards of living."

Mr. Ryan said Canadians generally were on the side of freeing the world's currencies of governmental controls but they felt their position was a special one. It was perhaps more difficult for some European governments to free immediately their own currencies as the Canadian dollar had been freed.

But he found it "encouraging to note that business men from so many different countries appeared to be much closer in agreement on what should be fundamental objectives of government policy, including maintenance of private competition as well as currency convertibility, than the actual governments themselves."

"While the differences of views on some points of commercial policy as between European and American business men probably provided the most headlines during the congress," said Mr. Ryan.

Heavy Fine Provided For Giving Aid To Deserters

Attorney-General Must Consent Before New Section Of Criminal Code Proceeded With

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's new Criminal Code will provide for a fine of up to $500 for persons assisting, harboring or concealing a deserter or an absentee without leave from the Canadian forces.

George Nowlan (P.C., Annapolis-Kings, N.S.) tried to have the section changed when it came up Monday before the Commons. He said the section could be applied against parents who cared for their sons, possibly not knowing that they were absent without leave.

Justice Minister Garson said the section was in line with recent changes to the National Defence Act.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo) said there is a great deal of difference between an absentee without leave and a deserter.

A desertion charge to be successful had to show there was intent to desert.

At the night sitting, Mr. Garson accepted an amendment moved by Mr. Nowlan. It would make it clear that no proceeding under the section could be launched without the permission of the attorney-general for Canada.

Wins Scholarship

John A. Coates, a Victoria College law student, was awarded the annual $100 scholarship by the Gyro Club Monday. Club president George Gregory made the presentation. Mr. Coates served with the R.N. and R.C.N. in the Second World War and now operates a small farm at Langford.

FINED $50 FOR KEEPING BEAR

Arthur Pednault, Coal Creek, has learned that it is against the law to keep wildlife in captivity.

In provincial police court, Pednault was fined $50 and $3 costs by Magistrate A. L. Thomas for having a black bear in captivity, chained to a dog house. Game Warden Bob Sinclair, who laid the charge, said court action will be taken against all persons found with wild game in captivity.

SHIFTING SIGHT

Eyes of the halibut migrate to one side of the head as the fish reaches maturity. If the halibut lives in cold water, the eyes and body color are on the right side. In warm water, the eye travels over the head to the left side.

Ship To Visit E. Arctic

OTTAWA (CP)—The Transport Department's vessel, C. D. Howe, sails from Montreal tomorrow to visit 22 far northern settlements and distribute nearly 1,500 tons of supplies.

The Resources Department said today the work of the eastern Arctic patrol this season will include hydrographic survey, aerial photography, postal service and study of game conservation. J. Cantley and Alex Stevenson, both of the Resources Department's Arctic services, will be officers in charge of the expedition.

The 10,000-mile journey may last four months. A judicial party will investigate a fatal shooting at Resolution Island, N.W.T.

"WEAK" BACK?

Many say they get "cold" in the back—or the kidneys—so easily! That's why thousands keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills always on hand. For this reliable remedy is like two treatments in one—works faster to relieve painful backaches due to faulty kidneys. Dr. Chase's name you can depend on.
